Canton Burning; Americans Fight Looters

FLAMES SWEEP OVER MILES OF BUSINESS AREA

Shift of Wind Saves Foreign Colony.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 24 (Monday).—(AP)—The British navy announced today that six heavy Japanese bombing planes bombed the British gunboat Sandpiper at Changsha this morning, causing considerable damage to the superstructure of the ship. No casualties were reported. British naval officers declared that information received here made it doubtful if the bombing was accidental. Changsha is nearly 200 miles southwest of Hankow and is on the Siang river.

BULLETIN.

HANKOW, Oct. 24 (Monday).—A large fire broke out in the downtown area of Wuchang last midnight. Efforts to reach Wuchang by phone failed. From the Hankow side of the Yangtze river the flames appeared to be spreading. There are a number of Americans in Wuchang.

CANTON, Oct. 24.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The principal business sections of Canton were wiped out by fire today, but a sudden shift in the wind saved Shameen, the international settlement of the Japanese captured South China city.

By mid-morning several square miles of Canton were in flames and the fire continued to spread unchecked. The wind shifted only after the Shakee area, directly across from Shameen Island, was burned to the ground.

At Pakhoktung, across the Pearl [Canton] river from Shameen, attendants at the insane asylum fled and the British navy immediately sent over a large quantity of rice to provide emergency rations for the 800 patients.

Naval Parties Sent Ashore.

Japanese soldiers in Canton, now estimated to number about 1,500, spread through the city in an effort to halt looting of abandoned shops. The Japanese captured the city on Friday.

American, British, and French authorities sent ashore naval landing parties on Shameen Island, just opposite central Canton, to help foreign civilians protect their colony.

All able bodied men had been called out last night to wet down houses and roofs in the path of the fires approaching the district. The landing parties helped round up looters who, in many cases, set fire to stores after ransacking them. Many foreign women and children were given temporary refuge aboard the riverboat Taishan which was anchored between British gunboats.

Fed by Frequent Explosions.

The flames, fed by frequent explosions and apparently set by Chinese, burned in dozens of areas. A square mile of buildings in the downtown district was destroyed, including the postoffice and customs house directly opposite Shameen and large Chinese owned hotels, department stores, and restaurants.

Panic stricken Chinese servants fled from the homes of employers and staged a sitdown strike among concessions in the main street, near the Victoria hotel which was badly damaged by explosions.

Many solid blocks were burned completely, including business establishments on famed Silk street.

Abandon French Hospital.

Patients in the Doumer [French] hospital were removed as flames approached the institution. The Y. M. C. A. also was abandoned.

Japanese troops, hampered in their efforts to check the spreading fires by the previous blasting of Canton's water works by fleeing Chinese, dynamited many buildings to halt the progress of the flames.

Two explosions in the vicinity of a power plant shook Shameen, causing serious damage to the foreign section, but no casualties. Many walls collapsed and others were cracked.

While some Japanese forces re-

COUPLE DESIGN WEDDING SERVICE AND TRY IT OUT

New York, Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The bridegroom said: "May we have honesty, understanding, fineness, beauty, and love in our life together."

The bride responded: "All that you have said comes from my heart, too. Together we shall live, together work and play, and together explore the universe."

The bridegroom placed a ring on her finger and kissed her. Dr. Charles Francis Potter, a former Baptist minister and now leader of the First Humanist society, to which the bride belongs, then pronounced them legally man and wife.

The bridegroom is Lynton Appleberry, 33 years old, an instructor at Antioch college, Yellow Springs, O. The bride is Valeska Baker, who was graduated from Antioch last year. They designed the ceremony.

The little fellow never knew he was the cause of all the excitement. He heard the sirens, the running footfalls, and saw Policemen Louis Darwint and Curtis Minogue burst into Warren O'Shea's apartment at 6250 Harper avenue early yesterday. But he never knew that the noise he made had caused Mr. O'Shea to call the police. Mr. O'Shea killed him before he found out. The little fellow was a mouse.

BALLOT BATTLE RAGES AROUND CITY'S BIG VOTE

Candidates Arrive for Final Fight.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

With the lion's share of Illinois' voting strength at stake, Republicans and Democrats will lock grips in Cook county today for the final two weeks of the campaign. This phase is expected to be a big if not a decisive factor in the balloting Nov. 8, since Cook county casts more than half the ballots in the state.

Candidates for congress and for state offices are trooping into the city to join with local candidates in the eleventh hour plea for votes.

Fresh and vigorous despite his 45,000 miles of downstate campaigning during the last eight months, Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for United States senator, will fire the big gun against New Dealism. From scores of platforms and on the air lanes he will shout the Republican remedy for the country's main troubles.

Lyons' Campaign Planks.

Lyons will base his final appeal for votes on the following planks:

1. Bring back jobs: erect a tarif wall to protect American farmers and workers; free business and industry from needless restrictions; lift the burden of taxation.

2. Restore checks and balances to government as a guarantee of fundamental rights; knock out "one family government."

3. Americanism: drive communism out of the United States by exposing and deporting radicals, whether they occupy high offices or not.

4. Old age security: a pension of $30 a month for persons over 65 years of age instead of the present Illinois average of $17 a month.

Lucas' Main Points.

Scott W. Lucas, Democratic nominee for the same office, relies mainly upon policies of the present administration to carry him through. He will also defend his record as a United States representative. His main points will be these:

1. The trade arguments of the Roosevelt administration are necessary to promote exports and prosperity.

2. Government control of farm surpluses is essential if farm prices are to be raised.

3. The Democratic administration has done everything possible under the circumstances to relieve

N. W. Train Is Derailed; Laid to Wreckers

A deliberately opened railroad switch derailed a North Western passenger train at McHenry, in McHenry county, late yesterday, causing minor injuries to nineteen persons. The train was a Sunday night special from Williams Bay, Wis., carrying week-end vacationists home to Chicago from lake resorts.

The three all steel coaches were tipped at dangerous angles and the coal tender was thrown on its side. One coach burst into flames. Some 200 feet of siding was ripped up. Investigation by W. A. Kraemer and H. R. Koch, superintendent and assistant superintendent, respectively, of the railroad's Galena division, showed that the accident resulted from a switch that had been tampered with.

Find Switch Was Opened.

The officials said the lock had been sprung open by being struck with a hammer, stone, or other hard object. The switch was then thrown open, and the lock relocked, keeping the switch open. Whether the tampering was the work of grownups or Halloween pranking boys, the investigators could not say.

"Whoever opened the switch, their act was malicious," said Mr. Koch. "Had the train not been derailed, it would have continued on the siding into the main line without having struck anything since the tracks were clear and unobstructed."

Some of the Injured.

Pure Albino Woodchuck Is Killed in Battle with Dog

Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—An albino woodchuck was killed today by Towser, a bird dog at West Stockbridge. The woodchuck, which gave the dog a sharp tussle for fifteen minutes, is pure white with pink eyes and will be on exhibition at the Berkshire museum here tomorrow.

REX, A DOG, IS MISSING FOR 2½ YEARS, BUT HE REMEMBERS OLD HOME

Rex had been away since July, 1936, but he remembered the old place perfectly when he got back. Rex is a wire haired terrier belonging to the family of R. I. Snape of 2267 West 113th street. Two and a half years ago he wandered away and was given up for lost. Late last week Miss Mary Snape was walking near the family home and saw a bedraggled dog.

"I knew it was Rex," she said yesterday. "I called him and he jumped all over me. He knew all the rest of the family. He was very dirty, but in good health, though he is 6 years old. He went straight to his bed in the basement and went to sleep."

Although every member of the family said "Rex! Where in the world have you been?" Rex didn't tell them a thing.

HIKER STEALS CAR AND PUTS ELMER OUT ON HOT SPOT

Elmer O. Molzahn, 19 years old, had taken his girl friend home to Oak Park and was returning to his own home at 1019 North Pulaski road early yesterday when he picked up a hitch-hiker. The hiker forced Elmer to alight and drove away with his car. Elmer reported the robbery and went home. Then the police awakened him.

His car had been in a crash with another at Pulaski road and Division street. Max Dziekan of 2732 West 16th street and Chester Bierwalzonck of 1622 South Fairfield avenue were slightly hurt. The hiker fled and the number of the stolen car was traced to Elmer. Elmer talked fast for half an hour and convinced the Jefferson Park police that he had not been in the car at the time of the crash.

First Snow of Season Swirls Over Chicago

A fair sized snowstorm, the first of the season, swirled over Chicago last night. The temperature, however, was only a little under 40 degrees, and the flakes melted as they fell. The forecast indicated that today would be cloudy, with a slight rise in the mercury. Forecaster J. R. Lloyd expected the minimum at dawn would be near the freezing mark.

A Girl Honors Her Father and Is Rewarded

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—William Nelson and his wife were divorced in Des Moines, Ia., in 1924. They had a daughter, Evelyn, 10 years old, whose custody was given to her mother. Nelson disappeared.

Four years ago Evelyn, then 20 years old, attended a family reunion in Oskaloosa, Ia., and asked whether any one knew what had become of her father. No one knew, but some one said he had heard that a man named William Nelson was in prison in Joliet, Ill., for murder.

Girl Writes to Convict.

Evelyn wrote to the prison authorities. They replied that there was a William Nelson serving a life sentence for murder there. With mixed emotions the young woman wrote a letter to the convict. She hoped he was not the father, but if he were she felt it her duty as a daughter to do what she could to comfort him. She remembered that he was usually kind to her in her childhood.

Back came the convict's reply. Yes, he was her long lost father. Would she write to him once in a while? Her letters would be such a comfort to an old man in prison.

Gladly the dutiful daughter responded. She wrote frequently.

He Dodges Family Life.

The daughter noted from time to time that the prisoner never mentioned any of the facts of her childhood or of her family life.

This omission she laid to her father's regrets over a lost happiness. In return she never recalled the past. Her letters dwelt on her present life, and he, in return, told of his joy at receiving them.

In 1936, after they had corresponded for two years, a sentence at the end of a letter puzzled Evelyn. She read it again and again, thoughtfully. Then a realization burst upon her.

The William Nelson in Joliet prison was not William Nelson, her father. The prisoner had written: "Do you still keep up your piano playing?"

Evelyn knew, and she knew that her father knew, that she never had taken piano lessons as a child.

Today there was a happy reunion here. The daughter, now Mrs. Evelyn Gates, after two years of searching found her real father, William Nelson, a respected citizen living in Long Beach.

ACCUSED OF PASSING OUT SIX MILLION TO HENCHMEN

JUDGE TO IGNORE CHARGE, HE SAYS; HIS AIDS DENY IT

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki declared yesterday that he will ignore the charge of the Women's Civic council that the handling of inheritance tax cases in his court has been scandalous and corrupt and that 6 million dollars has been wrongfully paid to appointees who rendered no service.

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

Four of Judge Jarecki's employés denied receiving the amounts which the council declared were paid to them.

Judge Jarecki, Democratic candidate to succeed himself at the Nov. 8 election, went about his campaigning. His secretary and press agent insisted Judge Jarecki had merely followed the law in appointing inheritance tax appraisers and that the appointees have received "not more than $10 a day."

Deny Truth of Charges.

Sidney Holzman, secretary to the judge; A. L. Matuszak, classed as Jarecki's chauffeur and clerk; Vincent Zwiefka and Thomas Hannigan, clerks, stated that they have not been paid more than $3,000 per year. Each said there was no truth in the figures set forth by Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council.

Judge Jarecki's statement is as follows:

"It seems strange that throughout the last sixteen years in which I have been county judge no one has ever before seen fit to make any charge against the administration of the Illinois inheritance tax law and proceedings.

"Three attorneys general of Illinois have exercised general supervision over assessment and collection of inheritance taxes during that period, and two of these gentlemen have been Republicans, the late Edward J. Brundage and Oscar E. Carlstrom.

Calls Charge a Roorback.

"The present charges, coming as they do within two weeks of an election for state and county offices, bear all the earmarks of a campaign canard and eleventh hour roorback. I do not intend to dignify by discussion or reply the ridiculous statements set forth in this document."

Holzman, whose aggregate fees since 1926 were listed as $77,756, said he had warned Mrs. Robertson the figure was wrong.

"I never received more than $2,750 in any one year," Holzman stated. "I am on no other pay roll nor do I receive any other fees. I have been Judge Jarecki's secretary since 1928 and as the county board does not appropriate for any of our jobs we are paid from inheritance tax receipts.

"The law fixes the fees for inheritance tax appraisers at not more than $10 a day and in no case is the fee to be more than 10 per cent of the tax collected. Therefore, eliminating Sundays and holidays, we could not be—and have not been—paid for more than 300 days out of any year.

Others Deny Pay Charges.

"But in some cases where we have a fee charged against an estate the tax is not paid, so we are not paid either. Therefore our pay ranges between $2,500 to $3,000. I tried to explain that to Mrs. Robertson, but she probably did not believe me."

"I am not Judge Jarecki's chauffeur," Matuszak stated. "I work in his office. It is untrue that I received $40,406 as an inheritance tax appraiser since 1929. I receive slightly more than $2,700 a year."

Zwiefka said he has been employed as a clerk with some bailif duties added. He said the figure of $40,720 listed as paid to him since 1930 is too high, saying the average was $2,700 a year. Hannigan claimed to be paid only $2,500 to $2,700 a year.

Women Level Graft Charges; Official Action Urged.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, Democratic candidate for reëlection, was charged yesterday with okaying payments of more than $6,000,000 in the form of estate appraisal and experts' fees to persons who did not make "the slightest pretext of rendering any service of any kind or nature therefor."

The startling complaint—the biggest expose of the fall campaign—was filed with the Chicago Bar association by Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council, an organization formed to champion honest elections.

Includes Names and Dates.

The charges, supported by affidavits and including names, amounts, and dates, were mailed to Henry P. Chandler, president of the bar association, who is given power by law to file disbarment proceedings before the Illinois Supreme court. Copies of the charges were mailed to the following: Gov. Horner, Attorney General Otto Kerner, State's Attorney Courtney, and Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue.

A few of the score or more favorites of the judge who are named in the complaint, their connection with the judge, and the amounts the books of the county treasurer show they received follow:

Vincent Zwiefka, personal clerk to Judge Jarecki, $40.720 since 1930.

Thomas Hannigan, "in some unknown fashion attached to the County court," $55,730 since 1927.

Marion Durski, Judge Jarecki's father-in-law, $10,411. Deceased.

Charge Made Under Oath.

Mrs. Robertson's complaint, which was made under oath, was based on records of the County court and the county treasurer.

These records, the president of the civic council swears, show that Judge Jarecki, who has sat in the court since 1922, gave appointments as property appraisers in inheritance tax cases to his political henchmen, to precinct captains, to political pay rollers, and to members of his family, as well as to his employés, some of whom already were on the public pay roll on a monthly salary basis.

Mrs. Robertson declared, in her complaint, that because of the facts she stated, Judge Jarecki's actions and conduct have been "unprofessional and dishonorable."

Calls Judge No Longer Fit.

"Judge Jarecki is no longer fit and qualified to act as judge of the County court," she charged. "He has brought the high standing of that office and the reputation of his profession as lawyer into disrepute by having permitted his office to become so involved in graft and corruption as aforesaid, by having raided said inheritance tax estates to the gain and advantage of himself and his political henchmen and friends and relatives in a sum in excess of $6,000,000, to the great loss of the people of Illinois and to the litigants in interest in all of said cases."

Another section of the blistering complaint reads:

"The actions and conduct of Judge Jarecki are unprofessional and dishonorable. They denote a lack of good moral character and are calculated to bring the courts of justice into disrepute and contempt. Judge Jarecki has been guilty of malfeasance in office."

Fees Limited by Law.

According to the statutes cited in the complaint, appraisers are limited to payments of not more than $10 daily, nor more than $300 per case, plus "actual and necessary traveling expenses." Thus, the annual total an appraiser might draw by working Sundays and holidays—which Mrs. Robertson points out could not be done—would be only $3,650.

Yet Holzman, Judge Jarecki's secretary, for example, is shown by the treasurer's records as receiving $5,621 in 1927, $6,657 in 1930, $5,887 in 1931, $5,544 in 1933, $8,390 in 1934, $10,281 in 1935, $7,595 in 1936, and $6,081 in 1937.

Judge Jarecki's control of the $6,000,000 fees reputedly dispensed comes through his power to appoint appraisers to determine the inheritance tax on estates when their value is contested.

How Appraisal Law Works.

Inheritance tax returns must, by law, be filed by administrators or executors in all taxable estates. When, as often occurs, any interested party, or the attorney general, or the county judge himself, files an objection to the return, the judge may hold a hearing himself on the complaint, or appoint a "competent" person to hear evidence, if necessary, determine the questions involved, and make an appraisal.

Dwelling upon the word "competent," Mrs. Robertson declares that Judge Jarecki has totally disregarded and violated its import by appointing as appraisers in most of the inheritance cases before him, "political henchmen, precinct captains, pay rollers, persons of shady reputations, illiterate persons, saloonkeepers, professional gamblers, persons guilty of vote frauds, plumbers, court reporters, bakers, jockies, chauffeurs, and tax fixers."

The judge was aware of the standing of these persons, Mrs. Robertson declared.

Millions of Dollars Involved.

"Judge Jarecki," she charged, "well knew that these persons did not possess any knowledge, skill, understanding or experience in appraising property or determining values thereof and were totally uninformed of such values.

"He appointed them as appraisers of estates involving huge holdings of property and securities of every kind, nature, and description, in many instances valued at many millions of dollars."

In the cases of Judge Jarecki's personal employés, Mrs. Robertson declared that the judge knew when he appointed them that their duties—Matuszak as a chauffeur and Holzman as secretary—consumed all their time and that "any certifications made by them as appraisers in any and all of the aforesaid estates were false and perjured."

Two Are Personal Employés.

The complaint also declares that there is no provision in the law for the employment either for a secretary or a chauffeur for the county judge, and therefore both are personal employés of Judge Jarecki, "who is and was personally obliged to pay for their services out of his own private funds."

Any payment to them out of public funds for their services to Judge Jarecki was "illegal and constitutes a fraud upon the public," the complaint declares.

Mrs. Robertson charged that Judge Jarecki had used his power of appointing appraisers to erect a political clique of his own.

"Judge Jarecki," she said, "has throughout the last 16 years in which he has occupied his office, "wantonly and corruptly administered inheritance tax estates with the seeming intent and purpose of building a powerful political machine in order to perpetuate himself and his political allies in public office.

Points to Appraisers' Work.

"He has appointed as appraisers publishers and officials of foreign [language] newspapers, members of both branches of the state legislature, aldermen, ward committeemen, and political leaders of both parties to gain their political favor and personal indorsement for his own advantage at public expense."

As to the work of the appraisers, Mrs. Robertson declared:

"In violation of the statutes, which provide that appraisers shall conduct hearings, administer the oath to and hear the testimony of witnesses to determine the fair and reasonable values of the property in the estates assigned to them, the said appraisers in a great majority of the cases, if not in all of them, neither conduct nor attend any hearings, administered oaths, nor heard any testimony of witnesses.

No Services Rendered, She Says.

"The appraisers were illegally and corruptly obliged and directed to certify under oath to testimony of witnesses to whom they never administered any oaths, who never appeared before them and whose testimony they did not hear and were not familiar with.

"In truth and in fact many millions of dollars of public funds were directed to be paid by Judge Jarecki and were so paid to almost all the appraisers appointed by him, with but but few exceptions, for no services of any kind whatsoever. Huge amounts, which came from the estates of widows and orphans pending before the county court, were promiscuously handed out by the judge to his favorite few upon their signatures only, without rendering any services of any kind or nature except the signing of already prepared reports and for their political support on election day."

"In truth and in fact all such hearings were conducted, all services were rendered, all taxes levied, all certifications made and all reports prepared by other persons, without even consulting the appraisers.

Tells Law Requirement.

"In order to adjudicate the appraiser's fees, etc., it is necessary for the appraiser to file with his report a statement, under oath, showing the number of days actually and necessarily spent in making such appraisal and his actual and necessary traveling expenses, together with the fees of witnesses. In direct violation thereof, no statement or certification is attached to any report in any case on file with the county clerk by any appraiser throughout his entire 16 years as county judge.

"By reason of the willful and corrupt omission to attach to the appraisers' reports statements, under oath, showing the number of days actually and necessarily spent in making such appraisals, the actual fees certified to by the county judge and paid by the county treasurer to a great many of the appraisers, and especially to the favorite appraisers, were excessive, fraudulent, illegal and in direct violation of the provisions of the statute.

Fee Splitting Rumor Charge.

"With very few exceptions, the only services rendered by the appraisers, especially the favorite appraisers, was to affix their signature to appraisers' reports which they themselves did not prepare and the contents of which they knew nothing about. The failure to require such certifications under oath as to time consumed by the appraisers was willful and corrupt for the purpose of allowing the excessive payments and for the purpose of concealing the true facts.

"So scandalous and infamous has become the administration of said inheritance estates that it is generally rumored and believed that in many instances a great number of the appraisers so appointed were and are obliged to illegally and corruptly split their fees.

"In at least one instance which came to the investigator's knowledge, an appraiser who refused to split his fees received no further appointments as appraiser.

Politicians Appointed.

"In addition to the appointments of appraisers and the allowance of fees to them, Judge Jarecki also appointed in many instances politicians as experts to determine the value of property in inheritance estates before him in like fashion and under similar circumstances as he appointed appraisers, with a total disregard to the welfare and interests of the people and the litigants before him, and for the purpose of gaining personal advantage, politically or otherwise.

"In numerous instances he appointed favorite politicians and personal friends both as appraisers and as experts [not in the same cases], and certified to and directed the payment of huge, excessive and illegal fees to them in their respective capacities.

"Although it appears from the official records that fees of experts in some individual cases exceeded $5,000, the files in the county clerk's office do not disclose that any of the so-called experts ever certified to time consumed by them in any or all of the inheritance estates, nor to the fair and reasonable value of the services alleged to have been rendered by them.

Files Incomplete, She Charges.

"Although the statute requires the filing of complete records with the clerk of the County court in all inheritance tax cases filed, the files and records of the county clerk are wholly incomplete and are devoid of any records pertaining to the certification of fees paid to any appraisers, experts, witnesses, etc.

"Investigators have been informed by the county clerk that such records of certifications, etc., were never filed with him but are in the sole possession of Judge Jarecki.

"Numerous demands were made upon Judge Jarecki to exhibit such public records and to disclose any and all other information pertaining to this appalling and deplorable situation, but he has wholly failed and refused to disclose and exhibit such records. For that reason the investigators were obliged to search and examine the records of the county treasurer to ascertain the dates of payments and amounts paid to said appraisers and experts aforesaid.

Charges Conflicts in Records.

"The records of the County court, and the records of the county treasurer's office do not coincide in hundreds of cases in so far as they pertain to the tax assessments, the collection of those taxes by the county, and the certification and payment of fees to appraisers and experts.

"It appears upon the records in the office of the county clerk that taxes were levied and assessed in certain cases, and in a great many instances the records of the county treasurer's office do not show the collection thereof. In many other respects certain records are incomplete and conflicting.

"Because of the failure of the county judge to keep and maintain full and complete records of the certification and payment of fees to appraisers and experts and the assessment of taxes in all cases before him, the numerous frauds and irregularities are concealed and unavailable to the general public.

"The Women's Civic Council of Chicago area and Harriet M. Robertson have made a full, thorough, and complete survey of all available records in the office of the county clerk and county treasurer pertaining to all inheritance tax cases filed in the County court before Judge Jarecki from 1926 until now. They have examined all available records covering cases in excess of 11,000 filed in the said County court; they have made a record of all of said cases and have all data in their files, which they are ready, able, and willing to produce before any official body designated to investigate and act upon the charges."

Why Copies Are Sent Out.

Mrs. Robertson's long complaint closed with explanations of why copies were being sent to Gov. Horner, Attorney General Kerner, State's Attorney Courtney, and Collector of Internal Revenue Harrison.

The president and board of managers of the bar association were given the information "for their consideration and for whatever action they may see fit to initiate by reason thereof.

"A copy is addressed to the state's attorney as a matter of courtesy for the purpose of informing him of the serious charges therein alleged, fully realizing, however, that by reason of his sponsoring the candidacy of Judge Jarecki and conducting his campaign for reëlection, the state's attorney is too interested a person and is otherwise disqualified to act."

Mr. Kerner was sent the charges as the chief law enforcing officer of the state "next in line to initiate whatever proceeding, civil or criminal, that he may deem proper and just."

Gov. Horner will receive one "for the purpose of presenting the facts to him that he, too, may initiate impeachment or other proceedings before the legislature, or such other action as he may deem just."

The copy to Collector Harrison is to permit him to "investigate the income tax returns of those who received the huge amounts herein charged."

JARECKI'S ACCUSER FOUNDER-PRESIDENT OF WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, who yesterday issued charges against County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, founded the Women's Civic council, of which she is president, in 1932.

Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson.

The purpose of the council, comprised of representatives of women's church and club groups, was to work toward good government. Since its organization, however, it has concentrated on investigations of election irregularities.

Mrs. Robertson is a native of Missouri and a graduate of the University of Missouri. She came to Chicago in 1928 for graduate work at the University of Chicago and remained to work, principally in the field of political organization.

She has been an organizer, she says, since wartime, when she canvassed for the American Red Cross. Later she was appointed a member of the Missouri children's code commission to revise and codify the state's child welfare laws. From 1921 to 1925 she was director of the Missouri children's bureau, which she organized.

Chicagoan Confesses Four Murders; Story Doubted

Authorities at Venice, Ill., notified the Chicago police last night that they were holding a man who had confessed he committed four murders and three rapes here. The prisoner said he was Gilbert Lesen Altman, 21 years old, 5337 Cornell avenue. His description of the crimes was vague and the police doubted his story. They asked that he be held in Venice until the sex bureau of the state's attorney's office can investigate.

218,146 ELIGIBLE TO VOTE NOV. 8 IN COUNTRY TOWNS

There are 218,146 eligible voters for the Nov. 8 election in the country townships under the jurisdiction of the county clerk, according to revised registration figures reported last night by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn.

HOPKINS TO MEET STATE DEMOCRAT BOSSES TONIGHT

G. O. P. Sees Pressure to Win WPA Votes.

State Democrat bosses will make an effort today, Republican leaders charged last night, to have the Works Progress administration put pressure on WPA workers to vote for Scott W. Lucas for United States senator.

The basis for this charge is the scheduled conference of Gov. Horner with Harry L. Hopkins, WPA chief, and other WPA officials. Hopkins left President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate last night for Chicago.

Hopkins is to be a guest at a dinner party in the Stevens hotel tonight. With him and the governor will be Howard O. Hunter, regional director of thirteen states for the WPA; Charles E. Miner, Illinois WPA director, and William J. Campbell, state director of the National Youth administration.

Statement by G. O. P. Chief.

"We have been anticipating this desperate move by the Democratic leadership for a long time," said A. K. Stiles, chairman of the Republican state central committee. "We may now expect the governor to demand that the WPA bosses crack the whip and order WPA workers to vote for Lucas."

Hopkins' talk with the governor will precede his lecture at the Sinai Congregation forum, 4622 South Parkway. He will speak publicly on "Government Spending—Is it a Sound Program?"

Until now the current election campaign in Illinois has been free from allegations of WPA coercion of its workers, such as characterized the primary campaign and previous elections.

It was reported last night that WPA workers were told to vote for Michael L. Igoe for the senatorial nominee in the primary instead of Lucas.

Lucas' Suggestions Ignored.

After Lucas was nominated, it was reported, he suggested certain changes in the administrative stafs of WPA district offices in Illinois. The changes were not made. The WPA, it was said, is still cool to him.

Because of this background it was predicted by one WPA official that any requests for WPA support will be turned down at the conference.

Neither Gov. Horner nor Hunter, Miner, or Campbell could be reached for comment on the Republican charge.

THREE BANDITS BEAT REPUTED MISER; STEAL $10

Three young bandits tortured an elderly man in his shack in the rear of 1614 Pierce avenue last night in an effort to make him give up hidden money they suspected he possessed. All they got was $10.

The victim is Andrew Dombrowski, 61 years old, a WPA worker. According to Sergt. Peter Di Julio of the Racine avenue station, he was erroneously regarded in the neighborhood as a wealthy miser.

The hoodlums were admitted to his house when one of them exhibited a star. They began beating Dombrowski and demanding he reveal the hiding place of his money. He insisted he had none, but the bandits continued to beat him and burned the soles of his feet with matches. The $10 they got was all the money Dombrowski had.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Several prominent Hollywood characters are to be married soon, according to film colony gossipers. PET JUNGLE CAT BACK HOME; CITY JITTERS SUBSIDE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Detroit's jaguar jitters ended tonight. For forty hours residents of the northwest side and police had been on the alert for Buzzie, 18 months old, a pet jungle cat which escaped from its home.

Tonight Mrs. Norman Gutscher heard a clawing sound at her back door and was surprised to see the rain soaked jaguar climbing on the screen. Gutscher had read of the search for the animal and called police.

They came and sent for the beast's owner, Mrs. Evelyn Manchester, who picked it up and took it home.

NEW WPA GRAFT CHARGES HURLED IN NEW MEXICO

Senate Quiz Demanded by Bi-Partisan Group.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Leaders of the Chavez Democratic machine in New Mexico were accused tonight of soliciting campaign contributions from WPA and other federal and state employés at the very time that a grand jury was hearing evidence that resulted in indictments of 73 members of that machine for WPA graft.

Stanley Miller, Senator's Son-in-Law Involved in WPA Scandal. [AP Wirephotos.]

This and other charges are to be presented, it became known today, to Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate campaign expenditures committee. The appeal to the committee to investigate the scandal before the election on Nov. 8 will be made by a committee composed of both Democrats and Republicans.

The fund solicitation charge was made in a radio address by James S. McCall, Republican nominee for attorney general of New Mexico.

Prison Head Involved.

McCall accused John B. McManus, chairman of the Democratic state committee, of improper solicitation of campaign funds. McManus, a Chavez follower, is superintendent of the state penitentiary.

The appeal to Senator Sheppard is expected to go to Washington this week, despite the fact that New Mexico is not choosing a senator in this election. The fact that a member of the senate, Dennis Chavez, is deeply involved in the WPA scandal through his family and his political henchmen, it is hoped, will persuade Senator Sheppard's committee to take jurisdiction.

Leading the list of defendants is Chavez's son-in-law, Stanley W. P. Miller, now suspended from his post as an assistant United States district attorney here. Also named were Joe Martinez, the senator's secretary; Mrs. Anita Tafoya, his sister, and Salamon Tafoya, his nephew.

Fred G. Healy, recently ousted as state WPA director, and others of the defendants were known as Chavez men.

Machinations Explained.

The grand jury in its indictment charged that the defendants stole WPA materials, used WPA employés on political missions, intimidated and discharged WPA employés to influence their votes, and shook down politically chosen foremen, all for the central purpose of building a powerful state political machine.

Chavez, boss of that machine, was not named in the indictments. Nevertheless, he is the target throughout New Mexico of resentment which is not confined to Republicans, but extends to many members of his own party. Much of this resentment is based on assertions that Chavez consistently has violated rules of the political game as it has been played in New Mexico since it was granted statehood in 1912.

"We fought like hell in the campaign, but after the election we got together and worked for the good of the state," was the way one political leader expressed this code.

Hounded in Private Life.

"Now it is changed. Men have been forced out of clubs and societies because they wouldn't go along with Chavez. Clients of lawyers who fought his machine politically have been warned to get other representation if they expected their suits to prosper before some of the state courts.

"The grand jury didn't get to the bottom of the WPA scandal. While this is far more difficult to prove than such official malfeasances as diverting materials and intimidating employés, WPA has been used in this state as a brutal economic weapon.

"Merchants who bucked Chavez have found their customers drifting away. While legal proof may be lacking, there is good reason to believe that WPA employés have been forced to boycott them."

Doubt Hopkins' Sincerity.

Republican leaders are dubious of the good faith of Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, in promising that his investigators will continue their inquiries in the state. Two years ago the Republican state committee uncovered much of the same sort of political misuse of WPA that caused the present grand jury action, and published its findings in affidavit form.

On several occasions thereafter, as recently as this spring, Hopkins took advantage of visits to the state to declare that WPA was as pure as snow white. He did not remove Healy, the state WPA director implicated in the scandal, until the grand jury had been working for several weeks.

Put Faith in Court.

But despite their doubts of Hopkins, local Republicans are confident there will be an unbiased trial of the charges already made. This is based on their respect for United States District Judge Colin Neblett, who set the grand jury on the trail of the scandal, and, to a lesser degree, in United States District Attorney Everett Grantham and his sponsor, Senator Carl A. Hatch.

Neblett, a Woodrow Wilson Democrat, is universally respected. He is an old school lawyer, stern in defending the prerogatives of his court.

Hatch was the sponsor of the amendment to prevent political misuse of WPA funds, defeated by the senate after a barefaced defense of such practices by his colleague, Chavez. Hatch and Grantham, whom he sponsored, were followers of former Senator Samuel Bratton, now a United States Circuit judge and another Democrat whose integrity is indorsed by members of the opposite party.

GOV. LEHMAN IN LINE, ROOSEVELT WILL GO BACK TO WASHINGTON

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Having whipped Gov. Herbert H. Lehman into line with all other Democratic candidates in New York state in rendering homage to the New Deal in their campaign speeches, a complacent President Roosevelt prepared today to head back to Washington tomorrow afternoon.

The President had achieved the main purpose of his visit to his country home—the reëstablishment of himself as the iron handed political leader in his home state. There had been a touch of defiance about the silence of Gov. Lehman on federal administration policies, but the governor yielded quickly when the pressure was applied. He praised the President's program in a speech yesterday and announced that he will make another laudatory address.

MME. SCHWIMMER ENTERS HOSPITAL FOR TREATMENT

Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, internationally known pacifist, is in the Presbyterian hospital undergoing treatment for diabetes, it was learned yesterday.

Mme. Schwimmer, now 61 and silver-haired, organized the Henry Ford peace expedition back in 1915 and once acted, she said, as international courier for Woodrow Wilson. A native of Hungary, she now is a woman without a country. She fled from Hungary, a political exile, in 1921, and was denied American citizenship in 1928. She now terms herself a "tolerated alien."

G. O. P. HAS HOPES FOR A MAJORITY IN ILLINOIS HOUSE

Certain of Big Increase in Present Strength.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

After a survey of the legislative campaigns in Cook county and downstate districts, Republican leaders declared yesterday that there is a good prospect of a G. O. P. majority in the lower house of the Illinois legislature after the Nov. 8 election. And if they fail to get a majority they are certain of a big increase in their present strength, Republicans say.

After the 1936 election, the Republicans had sixty-seven seats in the house at Springfield. They need seventy-seven for a constitutional majority. They now assert that they are certain of holding those they have; they are sure of gaining three seats; have good possibilities of adding five more, and fair possibilities of annexing five others to the G. O. P. list.

What Gains Mean.

If they gain eight they will have seventy-five seats, which will put them in a strong minority position in view of the fact that Cook county and downstate Democrats usually split in the house. And they believe there is a good prospect that they will pick up enough districts out of the remaining legislative fights to give them a majority.

The three districts in which they claim certain victory are the 9th, 10th, and 39th. The districts with good possibilities are the 22d, 24th, 28th, 33d, and 44th. The fair districts are the 5th, 11th, 13th, 48th, and 50th. The 5th, 9th, 11th, and 13th are in Cook county.

Assured of Gain in 9th.

The 9th district had three Democratic representatives last session. Two Democrats and one Republican were nominated in April and are assured of election in November. William S. Finucane is the Republican.

Representative David Hunter Jr., Rockford, and Leroy M. Green, Rockford, are the two Republicans expected to be elected in the 10th district. The Democratic candidates are Representative Frank B. Wilson, Woosung, and John Baumgarten, Rockford. Wilson is expected to be elected on the Democratic side.

The "certain victory" prophesized for the 39th district would include J. Ward Smith, and Elmer P. Hitter, both Republicans of Ottawa. The Democratic candidates are Representatives Edward G. Hayne, Ottawa, and Jeremiah F. Walsh, Utica.

Other Districts Reported.

The other downstate districts in which Republican leaders see a possibility of gaining house seats, together with the candidates, are listed below. Cook county districts are reported in the Metropolitan sections of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

TWENTY-SECOND—Representative John W. Speakman, Danville, and Augustus F. DeGafferelly, Danville, Republicans, are reported to have good chances to defeat the Democratic candidates, W. O. Edwards, Danville, and Representative Oda M. Sizemore, Paris.

TWENTY-FOURTH — Republican leaders view this district as a very good chance to elect two Republicans. The candidates are Representative Everett R. Peters, St. Joseph, and Charles W. Clabaugh, Champaign, Republicans, and Representative Tom M. Garman, Urbana, and Edward C. Brandenburger, Sullivan, Democrats.

Given Chance to Win.

TWENTY-EIGHTH—Representative Dan Dinneen and Ray Dillinger, both Republicans of Decatur, have pretty good chances of both being elected, according to Republican leaders. Their Democratic opponents are Representative Dean S. McGaughey, Mount Zion, and Felix E. Wilson, Clinton.

THIRTY-THIRD—Two old timers, former Representative Clinton Searle, and Representative Harry McCaskrin, both of Rock Island, are expected to be elected. The primary split in the Democratic party may cause the election of only one Democrat. Representatives Thomas A. Brennan, Rock Island, and Ora Smith, Biggsville, are the Democratic candidates.

FORTY-FOURTH — A very good chance for two Republicans has been given this district by party heads. Representatives Thomas J. Thornton, Chester, and Elbert Waller, Tamaroa, are the Republicans. Representative Joseph H. Davis, Murphysboro, and William H. Owen, DuQuoin, are the Democratic candidates.

Chances Fair for Two.

FORTY-EIGHTH—The chances of both Representative Fred A. Reavill, Flat Rock, and John R. Thompson, Bridgeport, Republicans, being elected are given as fair. The Democratic candidates are Representative F. Lewis, Robinson, and Lizzie Barnes, Carmi.

FIFTIETH—A rating of fair chance is given the two Republican candidates. Representative I. A. Palmer, West Frankfort, and M. F. Browner, Mound City. Representative Baker McAlpin and J. Will Howell, both of West Frankfort, are the Democratic candidates.

Democratic candidates throughout the state are working chiefly to hold their present eighty-six seats in the house.

BALLOT BATTLE RAGES AROUND CITY'S HUGE VOTE

suffering among the unemployed and aged.

Ward Meetings Planned.

One of the Democratic nominee's appearances will be at the night meeting intended to complete a picture of harmony in the party. Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Gov. Henry Horner, who arrived in Chicago last night, are scheduled to repeat that their respective forces are united behind Lucas. The meeting will be at the 132d Infantry armory at 2653 Madison street.

Lyons also will devote one appearance to aid party organization. He and the twenty-seven candidates for congress from Illinois will attend a special meeting this afternoon to coordinate all efforts upon basic issues which they will select.

Candidates other than the two ticket leaders will make the rounds of ward meetings during the final two weeks.

Flails Opponent.

Lyons flailed Lucas at two meetings yesterday as he began the final phase of his campaign. He spoke before 300 persons in the Nativity church at 68th street and Washtenaw avenue and to 800 at a street corner meeting at Oak street and Hudson avenue.

"A few days ago my opponent came into Chicago asking for votes," Lyons said. "What did he say in the primary? He told the citizens in downstate Illinois then that he didn't want the votes of Chicagoans.

"He criticized this city. He attacked the people here. He found fault with our schools and with our institutions. But he can't get away with it. The people of Chicago have not forgotten.

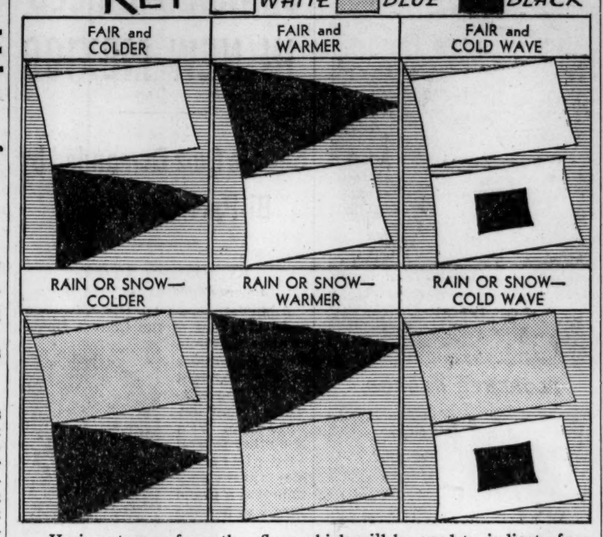
"Listen to me, Mr. Hand-Picked Candidate! You can't come up from Havana and ask for votes in the very city which you said was no good in your downstate primary campaign. You will find that out when the votes are counted."

Lyons urged his listeners to join in what he described as the greatest reemployment drive in history.

Mexican Fatally Burned in Rooming House Fire

Epifinio Serna, 72 years old, a Mexican, was burned to death early today in a fire which swept a rooming house, operated by Mrs. Mary Ellis at 265 Alexander street. Fifteen other roomers in the place were routed. The fire started from unknown causes. The property loss was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Watch for Weather Forecasts



Various types of weather flags which will be used to indicate forecasts at front of the Merchandise Mart. The flags will appear on a flagpole in front of the building, starting today.

How to Read Flags

Chicagoans will find it easier, beginning today, to know what the weather forecast is. The Merchandise Mart will fly flags outlining the forecaster's opinion. They will be visible from the elevated lines and nearby streets.

An all white flag indicates clear skies; an all blue flag, rain or snow; while a white with a black center square will mean a cold wave on the way. The temperature pennant is black. If flown above the white or blue flag it means that warmer weather is in prospect. If below, falling temperature is anticipated. The cold wave flag will be used with the white or the blue flag, depending on whether the cold will be accompanied by fair skies or with snow.

These signals are the same as those that have been used by the coast guard and other government agencies for some years.

FIRE MENACES LIBRARY BRANCH.

Firemen yesterday extinguished a fire in the basement of a store building at 3325-27 Broadway. For a time the flames threatened to spread to the nearby branch of the public library at 3319 Broadway.

G. O. P. WILL SEND BANNED POSTERS TO DOWNSTATERS

Republican billboard posters which the bill posters' union refused to put up in Chicago will be sent to several downstate cities. This was announced last night from A. K. Stiles, chairman of the Republican state central committee. He said:

"We want to see whether the Horner machine will bring pressure to bear on the bill posters' unions downstate. Citizens have a right to know and they are interested to find out whether the Chicago situation will be duplicated."

The billboard posters banned here read, "Smash Nash-Kelly Boss Rule—Vote Republican." Downstaters are interested in this issue and the posters will be sent to Peoria, Springfield, and perhaps other cities, Stiles said.

These posters are being put up in Cook county outside of Chicago, where the union edict does not rule. Reduced to placard size, the posters carrying the slogan are being placed in store and home windows.

Ward committeemen will be instructed at a meeting today to make a special drive to have the placards displayed wherever possible.

THIS YOUNG MAN

MAY SOON BE BALD

True, he now has a good head of hair. But he knows that he is rapidly losing it, because each morning his comb and brush are filled with fallen hair. His scalp is covered with scaly, sticky dandruff, and it itches constantly. He has tried to ward off baldness by dousing his hair with miscellaneous "cure-all" lotions, but has concluded that they merely make his hair fall faster.

Unless he takes immediate steps to find out exactly what is causing his loss of hair, he'll surely soon be bald. Please tell him, for his sake, that Thomas effectively treats 1600 cases similar to his each day; that Thomas has helped a quarter-million other men to avoid baldness, and can help him, too.

A Thomas scalp specialist will gladly examine his scalp (without charge) and determine exactly which of the 14 local scalp disorders are attacking his hair-growing structure. The reliable, 20 year proved Thomas treatment will then be directed to overcoming those scalp troubles, and almost before he realizes it his abnormal hair-fall will stop; dandruff will disappear; and new hair will start to grow on the thin and bald spots. Why not come in TODAY for a free comprehensive scalp examination?

Seeks Whip to Brandish Over Congress.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The Roosevelt administration is scheming to effectuate peace between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization in the hope of dominating the A. F. of L.

Sidney Hillman.

With labor reunited under the banner of the A. F. of L., the administration might avoid showdown fights with the federation in the next session of congress. If the administration could control the A. F. of L. it would have a powerful whip to crack over congress.

Department chiefs and other officials of the A. F. of L., returning from the federation's convention in Houston, Tex., gave the foregoing interpretation of the mysterious moves for labor peace being made by President Roosevelt, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and other high administration officials.

Light Thrown on Peace Moves.

From the same sources, considerable light has been thrown upon these peace movements, their motivations, and the steps that have been taken. The situation, as expressed by well informed labor executives, is as follows:

1. Secretary Perkins is playing a political shell game in her reports of progress toward arbitration of the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. controversy by a thirteen man committee—five from each side and three from the public—as proposed by her Oct. 15. There is no prospect of arbitration along the lines suggested by Secretary Perkins.

2. At the opportune time, President Roosevelt is expected to offer his services as mediator, an offer which both sides undoubtedly would accept.

3. The administration has turned to Sidney Hillman, vice chairman of the C. I. O. and head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union, as its front man in the reunited labor organization which it hopes to bring about. It is proposed to keep John L. Lewis, dictator of the C. I. O., in the background, because his association with communists have destroyed his usefulness as a front man.

A. F. of L. Shuns Hillman.

Administration spokesmen already have told high A. F. of L. officials, it was learned today, that Hillman is the man to deal with. The administration's confidence in Hillman, however, does not take into consideration the fact that A. F. of L. rank and file members dislike him almost as much as they dislike Lewis. The report of the resolutions committee at the Houston convention, adopted with only one dissenting vote, denounced him as the Machiavelli of the C. I. O.

The administration plan for reuniting the warring labor factions does not contemplate replacing William Green as president, it is understood. Because he was reëlected unanimously there would be little chance of removing him. But Hillman would be a member of the executive council, and when he appeared before congress he would be the White House spokesman of the A. F. of L.

Lewis' Power Assured.

Lewis, of course, would lurk in the background and his power with the administration would be only slightly diminished, since he is president of the United Mine Workers and that is the union that put up $500,000 for Mr. Roosevelt's reëlection in 1936.

In scoffing at Miss Perkins' claims that she is making progress with her proposal to settle the labor war by arbitration, informed union officials revealed that she had not communicated with President Green or with the federation's executive council. The council alone is authorized to consider peace negotiations, and it does not meet until Jan. 15.

Miss Perkins' overtures, therefore, are regarded as a buildup for its possible effect in the November elections and to stimulate demands for peace among the rank and file of both factions, which would give President Roosevelt pretext for stepping in.

Secret Conferences Revealed.

The setting of the stage for the Houston convention, which opened on Oct. 4 with a peace message from President Roosevelt, involved a series of secret conferences and much devious intrigue.

First Hillman put the heat on David Dubinsky, chief of the International Ladies' Garment Workers and a brother C. I. O. executive. Hillman reminded Dubinsky of what he had obtained for the garment workers from the Roosevelt administration and threatened to cut off future assistance from that source.

The result was that the Garment Workers' union appointed a committee to call upon Green and discuss peace with the C. I. O. Green said peace negotiations could be resumed, but Lewis spurned the offer.

Seek to Build Fire.

The Roosevelt administration subsequently tried to build a fire under the A. F. of L. leadership among the rank and file.

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International brotherhood of teamsters, largest A. F. of L. union, had returned from London, where he attended the British trade union congress, and didn't know anything about the overture which Lewis had spurned.

Just as he returned from Europe and just before the Houston convention of the A. F. of L., federal agents began subpenaing the books of Tobin's huge local in Chicago.

A grand jury investigation of the Chicago milk dealers, for the purpose of determining whether there had been a conspiracy in restraint of trade, had been going on for months. It was understood when the investigation began that it would not concern the milk wagon drivers, one of Tobin's unions, although its affairs had been investigated by the state's attorney's office many times.

Books of Local Seized.

With the books of his Chicago local being seized and with pressure from rank and file members being exerted upon him, Tobin took the floor at Houston to laud President Roosevelt's peace message and demand the resumption of negotiations with the C. I. O. He rebuked the A. F. of L. leadership, saying nothing could be accomplished by "calling men traitors and dictators and Judases."

Tobin's attitude was more surprising to A. F. of L. leaders than the public realized at the time. They recalled that as a member of the executive council he had voted against Lewis on every occasion. Moreover, the January, 1938, issue of the Teamster's Journal denied the power of the A. F. of L. committee then negotiating with the C. I. O. to make any agreement without reporting back to the executive council.

The C. I. O. terms, said the editorial in Tobin's journal, would constitute "a direct violation of the constitution and laws of the federation," since there would be conflicting unions, or two unions having the same jurisdiction.

Tobin's peace plea did not have its desired effect. The report of the resolutions committee upholding the action of the executive council was adopted with only one dissenting vote.

Three Women Run for County Board

(Story in adjoining column.)

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey (left), Mrs. Leona M. Rohen (center), and Miss Mary McEnerney, who are women candidates for places as county commissioners this fall. Mrs. Conkey and Miss McEnerney are Democrats seeking re-election. Mrs. Rohen is a Republican.

WOMAN SWALLOWS POISON.

Mrs. Mary I. Lippincott, 42 years old, was taken to St. Bernard's hospital yesterday after she had swallowed poison in her room at 1120 East 47th street.

WOMAN'S PLACE ON COUNTY BOARD IS TOLD BY THREE

Candidates Stress Need of Feminine Touch.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Miss Mary McEnerney, who started out in politics with Henry Horner in the old 3d ward back in 1913, was smiling but deadly as she tugged at the arm of her old co-worker.

"You spoke of the 'men who are candidates,'" she reprimanded the governor as he concluded his harmony speech last Monday at the rally of Cook county Democrats. "Why didn't you mention the women?"

Miss McEnerney, caustic, forthright, and a recognized demon for women's rights, spoke of herself and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, both running for reëlection to the county board of commissioners. Running, too, but for a new seat, is Mrs. Leona M. Rohen, the first woman ever nominated for the board on the Republican ticket.

Guard Sick and Destitute.

The county board spends $37,000,000 a year. Much of this is expended in its capacity as "guardian of the sick and destitute." Each of the three women, all veterans in politics, considers herself peculiarly fitted for that office.

Miss McEnerney, who entered her second term in 1934 with only twenty-three votes under 700,000, points to her labor record. She was the first woman to be elected vice president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and has held that post since 1922. She founded in 1905, and has been its business agent ever since, Bindery Women's union, No. 30. She literally slaves for the working girl. On the board her great interest has been the County hospital.

"But I'm interested in anything that comes up," she added. "In machinery. In contracts. In employing the right kind of people."

City's First Jury Commissioner.

Mrs. Conkey, a quiet, serene, and implacable worker, was Chicago's first jury commissioner as well as its last commissioner of public welfare. Her interests are welfare problems, particularly those of the Juvenile court and detention home, where she has begun some major projects she feels she should finish.

"I think I can continue to render service," she says quietly, "and I'm trying hard to be reëlected. We have so much work to do that is only partially completed."

Mrs. Rohen has never held political office, although she has been on the Republican speakers' platform for many years. However she has had twenty-eight years of business experience in everything from radio to advertising work and has a large backing of business and professional women, club leaders, and musicians.

Criticizes Hospital Politics.

"I'm interested in the care of the aged at the Oak Forest infirmary," she said, "and why they are not being cared for properly. I'd like to see special privileges stopped at County hospital, to see that every one has the same opportunity to get well, whether he is a political pet or not."

Miss McEnerney says campaigning is "a routine business, just a job with nothing thrilling about it." Mrs. Conkey, making five and six speeches a day, says she is "tired, but still enthusiastic." Mrs. Rohen says it is "hard work, but nice."

ROB COUPLE OF $60 AND AUTO.

Two gunmen early yesterday held up Edward Forsberg of 3838 North Seeley avenue and Miss Hilda Rach, employed at 1325 Astor street, at Banks and Astor street. They took $60 and Forsberg's automobile.

The following public meetings at which leading political candidates will speak will be held at 8 o'clock tonight:

DEMOCRATS PAY $100 FOR DINNER IN BAY STATE

Boston, Mass., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Although not one of the defeated candidates in the party's gubernatorial primary attended, 768 Massachusetts Democrats at a $100 a plate dinner tonight cheered James A. Farley's call for a congress which would complete the "greatest program of social and economic reform ever undertaken by a wise and prudent government."

The chairman of the Democratic national committee gave his political blessing to the entire state party slate, headed by former Gov. James M. Curley.

There was no public explanation of the absence of the three defeated candidates, Gov. Charles F. Hurley, Lieut. Gov. Francis E. Kelly, and former Congressman Richard M. Russell. The dinner had been widely heralded as a harmony gathering.

DEWEY TO CARRY CAMPAIGN INTO BROOKLYN TODAY

New York, Oct. 23.—[Special.]—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee for governor, has added four meetings in Brooklyn tomorrow night to his speaking schedule. These are in addition to his regular Monday evening radio broadcast.

In his radio speech Mr. Dewey plans to give added proof of his contention that there is a definite connection between part of the Democratic party and the underworld by attacking the Albany Democratic organization, headed by the O'Connell brothers.

This will be preliminary to Mr. Dewey's appearance in Albany Tuesday night, when he is expected to follow up this attack.

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

FLOOR OF THE WORLD

By CALEB

THEY WERE not arranged alphabetically, but nevertheless, all were there—from Afghanistan to Turkey, Belgium to Switzerland. Thirty-two nations in all were represented—not around a council table but in our rug department where man's penchant for making floor coverings is thus amply demonstrated.

The familiar ones, of course, include Persia, China and Beloochistan. But these countries are by no means the only ones represented. Ireland is there with as distinctive offerings as any. And so the list goes through such countries as Sweden, Finland, Rumania, Tibet, Greece, Mexico, Scotland, Spain, Canada, Russia, Mesopotamia, Syria, Cambodia, India, Turkestan, Algeria and Morocco.

The same floor coverings reflect the life and the customs of the countries whence they come. Most of them have been produced with unchanging technique in the various countries since the dawn of history. Man seems to have a pronounced aversion to living with bare floors. Among the earliest fruits of his culture is some sort of floor covering—with such inherent beauty and utility that a tradition is built and survives invasion, famines, wars and all other catastrophies.

What a wealth of history and tradition are bound up in this great international collection—and how rare it is to find them all represented in a single place. The far plateaus of Tibet with awkward camels, silver bells around their necks, picking their way gingerly across snowy wastes to distant tribal markets. The hot, yellow Mexican sun beating down on the primitive wooden loom where patient peons sit and execute the patterns taught them by elders who learned from theirs—and so back to the days before Cortez.

The hum of a spinning wheel before a peat fire in Ireland; the bleating of goats outside an Alpine doorway; the Moslem call to prayer when nimble fingers leave patterns of the tree of life, and slippered feet go free as owners bow three times toward Mecca.

All these things—and more—within a single room where the poetry, the customs and the very life of great peoples are woven in the traditions of a hundred generations. How carelessly we walk across the laboriously wrought designs and cleancut patterns. How little thought we give to their beauty and their meaning. In these same rugs we see all patterns reach a common end—and watch the footsteps of all men progress toward a common fate. "There are many doors—but all enter a single room," says the Koran—and perhaps these rugs, each in its own language, say the same thing.

VIENNA CARDINAL DENIES STIRRING HATE FOR HITLER

Reply to Nazi Attacks Is Read in Churches.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Oct. 23.—A spirited reply by Cardinal Theodore Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, to recent attacks made on him by Nazi newspapers and orators was read in all Roman Catholic churches here today. Pointing out that the official German news agency had demanded that he state his position to the Catholic people, the cardinal said:

"1. The celebrated declaration of the Austrian bishops of March 18, was given with the best intentions to come to a peaceful understanding with the present ruler of the country. The course of events brought unfortunate measures which the Catholic people were forced to meet. [The last sentence was believed to refer to the discontinuance of Confessional schools and to Austria's new marriage law which makes civil marriage compulsory.]

[On March 18 Austrian bishops voiced recognition of the Nazi movement's achievements and proclaimed their "loyalty as Germans to the German reich." This was a few days after Germany's annexation of Austria.]

Denies Attacking Hitler.

"2. With not a single word did I attack the Fuehrer [Adolf Hitler] in my sermon of Oct. 7 to the Catholic youth. Much less did I seek to instigate hate against him, the state or the party. The demonstrations of young people after the services were both unforeseen and undesired. Finally, it is untrue that the Catholic youth took this opportunity to sing political songs.

[Nazis charged the cardinal with organizing political chanting in which the Catholic youth in St. Stephen's square shouted, "We want to see our bishop!" in unison, in the manner of Nazis crying, "We want to see our Fuehrer." A day later a Nazi mob stoned the palace of the cardinal who was slightly injured.]

"3. The words 'I have decided to fight and am ready to lead' have been put into my mouth. I did not say this in connection with the bishops' conference or any other assembly of priests.

"4. The prohibition for priests to participate in the 'workers' organization for religious peace' was not issued by myself alone but followed the unanimous decision of the bishop's conference—not for political reasons but for reasons of church discipline.

Cardinal Defends Self.

"5. I have never failed to understand the historical importance of the hour when my homeland—German Sudeten territory—was returned to the great German fatherland. Together with other German cardinals I rendered my thanks to the Fuehrer and proclaimed thanksgiving services for the whole of Ostmark [Austria] and ordered the ringing of bells. I defend myself against the offensive reproach that I placed myself in deliberate opposition to the Fuehrer and the nation during these great days of the German people."

In conclusion, Cardinal Innitzer said: "I declare now, as before, that I hold the opinion a Catholic must conscientiously fulfill his duty toward the state, but the bishop must also at all times carry out his sworn duty of representing the reich of God and church."

Before the proclamation was read in St. Stephen's cathedral, young men went through the congregation requesting the members "not to make things more difficult for the cardinal by showing any emotional reactions."

Fight Canton Fires

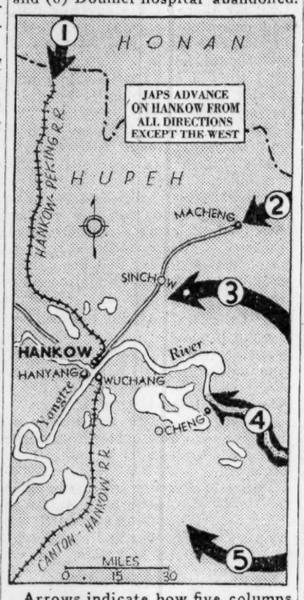
Numbers indicate effect of fires in burning Canton: (1) Destruction of waterworks by retreating Chinese hampers fire fighters; (2) explosions in Canton damage walls of buildings in Shameen foreign settlement; (3) customs house and (4) postoffice burned; (5) Y. M. C. A. and (6) Doumer hospital abandoned.



Arrows indicate how five columns of Japanese are closing in on Hankow: (1) Column reaches Honan-Hupeh province border, (2) Chinese retreat from Macheng, (3) Japanese capture Sinchow, (4) land and river forces battle at Ocheng, (5) southern column strikes toward Hankow-Canton railroad.

mained behind as firefighters and others stayed in mop-up squads, the swift moving, mechanized column continued northward in pursuit of retreating Chinese who were in danger of being trapped between Japanese forces moving head-on north from Canton and south from Tsungfa.

The Bocca Tigris forts below the city were said to have been handed over to the Japanese. The forts had served as naval an anti-aircraft defenses of Canton.

Retreat from Hankow.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Japanese forces closed in today toward Hankow, 585 miles up the Yangtze river from Shanghai, in a huge, tightening semicircle.

Battlefront advices from the invaders said they advanced on the Chinese provisional capital from all directions except the west, an exit through which the Chinese were reported moving in increasing number.

Japanese spokesmen stated the doom of Hankow and the other two cities of central China's important tri-city area—Hanyang and Wuchang—already was written.

Progress of Five Drives.

The picture presented tonight by Japanese reports showed the invaders pounding toward the tri-city area as if following the spokes of a wheel toward the hub.

These reports asserted:

1. Japanese driving south in Honan province reached the Hupeh-Honan border ninety miles airline north of Hankow.

2. Japanese neared Macheng, forty-six miles north of the Yangtze river. Chinese were said to be retreating.

3. Another force captured Sinchow, strategic highway junction forty miles airline northeast of Hankow, in a sharp thrust after the fall of Kishui.

4. On the Yangtze itself Japanese warships continued up the stream to a point only forty miles airline east of Hankow. Land forces in this sector yesterday were reported fighting in the vicinity of Ocheng, thirty-five miles from Hankow. [Other sources said the Japanese had captured Ocheng.]

5. South of the Yangtze a Japanese force was sixty miles airline southeast of Hankow and only thirty miles from the Canton-Hankow railway, a route it is seeking to cut.

The Chinese press declared Japanese planes bombed the steamship Kianghsin near Yochow as it was sailing up the Yangtze river from Hankow with a crowded load of refugees aboard. There were 1,000 casualties, Chinese reported.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Premier George Kiosseivanoff, acting for King Boris, unexpectedly opened an extraordinary session of the national assembly today.

Official quarters declined to explain the reasons for the session, but it was believed it was connected with questions arising from the recent assassination of the chief of staf, Maj. Gen. Yordan Peyeff. The assembly, which met last May for the first time in four years, was suspended two months later by royal decree.

Doom of French People's Front Is Seen in Senate Elections

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 23.—The French senatorial elections, which were held today, reveal a noticeable swing toward the right and a drift away from the People's Front.

Marcel Regnier, ex-cabinet man, who was defeated.

This is the interpretation given the results by impartial observers. They also saw the results as indication of approval of the government's foreign policies.

Premier Edouard Daladier's own Radical Socialist party lost thirteen seats, but ten of them were won by extreme rightists who favored his part in the Munich agreement on the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Ninety-six Seats Involved.

Since ninety-six seats, or one-third of the senate, were involved in today's election, there seems little reason to doubt the current interpretation of the balloting as a definite reaction against the People's Front, or left wing policies, which won public favor under Premier Leon Blum in 1936.

The Socialists, strongest government party, however, do not appear to have lost much ground. It is, rather, the Radical Socialists who have lost to the conservatives.

The Socialists could hail one great triumph. Marx Dormoy, Socialist minister of the interior in Blum's cabinet, defeated Marcel Regnier, Radical Socialist and former minister of finance. He was a leader of the fight against the Socialist government in the senate. Minister of Interior Albert Sarraut and Minister of Agriculture Henri Queuille, both Radical Socialists, were easily re-elected.

Dictatorship Possible.

While it is doubted that the senatorial election will have any decisive effect on the governmental situation, it is generally believed that Daladier's inclination toward some kind of a legal dictatorship will be strengthened. It was believed he will seek his future majority in the center and on the right.

The premier is expected to lay his cards on the table during the coming week, either at the exceptionally important national convention of his party opening in Marseilles on Wednesday, or in a public announcement of his program for general restoration of the nation's financial structure.

It is not impossible that at Marseilles, Edouard Herriot, former premier and honorary president of the Radical Socialist party, may jump the traces and swing the party against the government's policy. This would automatically produce both a domestic and international crisis.

POLAND ARRESTS 114 AT UKRAINIAN FREEDOM RALLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 23.—Rioting in Polish Galician cities and towns is continuing. Polish police today arrested 114 Ukrainians in Stryj when more than a thousand Ukrainians held a demonstration to demand independence from Poland and creation of a free Ukrainian state.

Official Polish sources have been compelled to admit that recently there have been serious disturbances in the Ukraine, but they claim no persons were killed in today's disorders because police used rubber truncheons instead of guns to disperse the demonstrators.

Riots also were reported from Lubaczow and other towns, but the number of persons arrested and injured was not given.

FOES IN SPANISH WAR PREPARE FOR NEW DRIVES

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish frontier], Oct. 23.—(AP)—Behind terse "no news worthy of mention" reports from both sides of the Spanish civil war tonight were increasing signs of a lull before a storm.

The high commands of both armies apparently were preparing for new offensives and were using every device to test enemy strength on all fronts.

Insurgent aviation was reported using a new development in night aerial observation, bombing planes equipped with searchlights. Night scouting bombers, rebel sources said, have been locating truck convoys and trains moving men and supplies to government fronts.

HUNGARY SPURNS PRAGUE'S OFFER; READY TO FIGHT

Hint Czechs Must Give Up Area by Wednesday.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The Hungarian government in an official communique today said the latest Czechoslovak territorial proposals were unacceptable. Well informed sources indicated Hungary will wait no longer than Wednesday for a satisfactory reply.

These sources hinted that an order for the Hungarian army to march into Slovakia will be given if Czechoslovakia does not agree to Hungary's demands by then.

It was said in diplomatic quarters that Poland planned to march into Ruthenia [sub-Carpathian Russia] the very moment Hungary starts her advance into Slovakia.

Hungary Ready to March.

The Hungarian army was along Czechoslovakia's border, ready to march at a moment's notice.

It was believed this was only one of the reasons, however, why the Hungarian cabinet was determined to settle the question of the Magyar minority in Slovakia this week or begin occupation of the territory.

A dangerous internal political situation in Hungary was in the background and was expected to remain until the dispute with Czechoslovakia is settled.

Hungarian Nazis have strongly criticized the government for its failure to act with greater speed and determination when Germany and Poland marched in and occupied their respective minority districts in the Sudetenland and Silesia.

Demonstrate in Streets.

Street demonstrations took place all over Hungary today. Hundreds of thousands of participants demanded "immediate occupation" of the Czechoslovak districts in which Hungarians claim 1,000,000 or more Magyars have lived since the world war. Budapest police banned a scheduled procession because of fear of disturbances.

The government communique said the Czechoslovak proposals, the fifth set to be made, constituted an attempt to give greater satisfaction to the Magyar geographical requirements, but were unacceptable because they left important Hungarian towns such as Pozsony Nitra, Kassa, Ungvar, and Munkacs under Czechoslovak sovereignty.

Foreign Minister Frantisek Chvalkovsky of Czechoslovakia informed the Hungarian government his proposal should be taken as a general basis for negotiations and not as excluding future modifications.

Official Leaves for Prague.

The details of the Czechoslovak offer and the Hungarian answer will be published simultaneously by the two governments when the Hungarian answer is received by the Czechoslovak cabinet, it was said.

Vice Secretary of State Pataky, minorities' expert, left for Prague on a mission understood connected with Budapest's claims.

It was only Friday that Czechoslovakia's fourth plan to meet the Hungarian claims was received. It was understood to offer about 2,800 square miles of territory to Hungary, as against the latter's demand for about 5,000 square miles.

Diplomatic circles reported that Germany urged the two nations to compromise according to a plan by Reichsfuehrer Hitler which would give Hungary about 66 per cent of her demands.

The Hungarian National Socialist newspaper Magyarsag meanwhile reported 360 armed members of a Hungarian National Socialist [Nazi] free corps had been caught by Czechoslovaks and were awaiting trial.

Czechs at Meeting

Czech veterans of the world war no longer value the decorations their heroism won them in the armed forces of Italy, Britain, and France. Last night, before 10,000 Czechs and Slovaks gathered in the International amphitheater, seventy-five of the veterans marched to the platform and threw down their medals. They are to be returned to the countries that bestowed them.

The meeting, originally scheduled to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of Czechoslovakian independence, was turned into a forum at which dictatorships were condemned and the "desertion" of Czechoslovakia by the European democratic nations criticized.

Vojta Benes, brother of Edward Benes, who resigned as president of Czechoslovakia under German Nazi pressure, declared that Americans alone are the friends of Czechoslovakians. "We shall never resign our rights," he said. "The Czechs and Slovaks are united in their belief in democratic principles."

DR. BENES PLANS TO REST BEFORE TRIP TO CHICAGO

LONDON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia was understood today to have cabled the University of Chicago through his secretary that he would fix no date for his visit to the United States until he had recovered completely from the strain of the last six months. One of his intimates said his departure for America would be arranged by correspondence with the university, where he is to lecture. Benes arrived here yesterday and he stayed indoors today despite bright fall sunshine. An intimate said that despite his fatigue and nervous strain no fears were felt for his health.

YES-MAN BROWN FACING FIGHT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Expect Tobey, Republican, to Win Senate Seat.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Concord, N. H., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—It looks as if Democratic Senator Fred H. Brown is doomed to pay the penalty of being one of those yes-men President Roosevelt implied he wanted in congress when he set out to purge his party of the legislators he dubbed "yes-but" men.

The senator who came to Washington with the President in 1933, has made a record of 100 per cent support of whatever Mr. Roosevelt asked in the way of legislation—or rather, to be precise, his record was "99.44 per cent pure." After he had upheld the President in his effort to pack the Supreme court and the bill had been beaten, the senator voted to recommit the measure to the judiciary committee for burial.

Thus Brown did not go to St. Helena with the little band of faithful New Dealers who voted even against recommittal and the Republicans are unfeeling enough to charge that Brown voted to recommit in an effort to take the curse off his rubber stamp record.

Independent Previously.

When Fred Brown went to Washington nobody in New Hampshire ever dreamed that he would become anybody's rubber stamp. As governor of the state, and even more so later for eight years as member of the New Hampshire public service commission, he was as independent as a hog on ice. He would not wear any man's collar, and his reputation for allfired, downright ornery independence, was one of his big selling points in his bid for the senatorship in 1932. Now the New Hampshire folks surveying his record of yessing the President, feel that they have been let down.

Of course, feeling is running pretty high in this campaign and some of the Republican arguments against the senator may prove to be boomerangs, hurting Mr. Brown less than his accusers. For instance, the Republicans have been lampooning Mr. Brown as New Hampshire's dumb [in the sense of speechless] senator. They aver that in six years his voice never has been heard in the senate except in answer to a roll call.

One Speech His Record.

Democratic defenders of the senator have been able to establish that such accusation is a gross libel. Senator Brown did make a speech in the senate during the six years. It was his only speech, to be sure, but it only goes to show, say the Democrats, how far the Republicans will go to traduce a great and good statesman.

The speech was a particularly vigorous one in defense of the death sentence for public utility holding companies and was reputed at the time to have been the handiwork of Thomas G. [Tommy the Cork] Corcoran, the President's brain truster.

Also in the category of possible boomerangs is the Republican contention that in six years Senator Brown has distinguished himself in the senate for nothing but the mastery of the tobacco juice trajectory. This was signalized by the ability to pink a senate cuspidor in the bull's eye nine times out of ten at a range of six yards, a prowess greatly esteemed, however, in the cracker barrel New Hampshire hinterlands. Such maligning of their hero is welcomed by the Democrats, who are well aware that the consumption of plug and fine cut has suffered no diminution in New Hampshire.

Tobey Long in Power.

The man who seems likely to take the measure of Senator Brown is the Republican candidate, Congressman Charles W. Tobey, who has been a political power in the state for two decades. He served as speaker of the state house of representatives, was president of the state senate, governor, and finally congressman for three terms. He is waging an aggressive campaign against the socialistic aspects of the New Deal, waste of money, dictatorship, and yes men.

Much to the surprise of many Republicans, Congressman Tobey pledged himself that if elected to the senate he would vote for the Townsend plan as now embodied in "the General Welfare bill of 1933." Republican leaders profess to believe that in view of the strength of the Townsendites in the state the indorsement of the plan insures his election by an overwhelming majority.

A good many conservative Republicans, however, and some newspapers have turned against him since he declared for the Townsend plan and are saying that if he should be beaten this will be the reason.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Charges that politics is being played with relief and the WPA have entered Michigan's campaign.

Democrats are using welfare funds to buy votes in the city of Hamtramck, according to Elton R. Eaton, a Republican state representative of Plymouth. He declared that in common with all Wayne county [Detroit], Hamtramck food budgets for welfare recipients were reduced 70 per cent on Sept. 12 because of lack of funds. The food budgets recently were restored to the old level in Hamtramck, but nowhere else in Wayne county.

This, Eaton charged, was done purely for political purposes. Petitions are being circulated asking the dismissal of G. R. Harris, Wayne county welfare administrator.

Political Squeeze Charged.

Charges that the political squeeze is being put on WPA workers are being renewed by Republican state headquarters at Lansing. A folder is being distributed giving a reprint of a questionnaire submitted to WPA workers in Kalamazoo last spring. It was put in the congressional record by Representative Jesse R. Wolcott of Port Huron.

The questionnaire asked WPA employés whether they voted in primaries since 1939, whether they voted Republican or Democrat, and whether they belonged to any Democratic organization or club. The final question was: "Have you contributed to any Democratic organization in Kalamazoo county? To whom? How much since Aug. 1, 1932?"

Bridge Used as Bait.

A bridge at the Straits of Mackinac has come into the campaign, and the Roosevelt administration is accused of using it as bait for votes. Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan announced a few days ago that he had talked with President Roosevelt and said that the President asked him to convey an assurance that a bridge would be built.

The timing of the announcement stirred criticism even among people who have been advocating the bridge. It is regarded as an effort to play politics with the project in an attempt to catch votes for Gov. Frank Murphy.

WPA workers are being organized by the United Auto Workers, a C. I. O. affiliate in Detroit, Flint, Pontiac, and other automotive towns.

C. I. O. Backs Murphy.

Republicans charge that these unionizing activities are being operated in conjunction with politics to help Gov. Murphy. Murphy has the support of the warring labor groups, the C. I. O. and the state federation of labor.

The local district council of labor's nonpartisan league, of which John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., is godfather, is backing the governor.

Murphy's indorsement by communists is one matter to which the Republicans are devoting concentrated attention. The sitdown strikes of 1937 and the communists' hero worship of the governor are issues which are generally held to be cutting into the Murphy strength. Republican headquarters today sent out a blast on this subject from Frank D. Fitzgerald, former governor and Murphy's Republican opponent.

"There no longer is the least particle of doubt," said Fitzgerald, "as to just where the communists stand in this Michigan election. They are boldly and defiantly out in the open supporting the present Democratic governor and at the same time are opposing me just as actively. I am proud of that opposition. I am proud to accept their challenge and I am thankful to them, too, for now they have made the issue plain.

"Heretofore, communist political activities in this country have been cloaked in mystery. Now there is no longer an occasion for rumors or whisperings. The red radicals are out in the open—out supporting the Democratic governor of Michigan.

"Since they are out in the open, we have the opportunity of dealing with them as we would deal with any people pledged to overthrow the American form of government."

Murphy, defending his handling of the sit-down strikes, says he averted bloodshed and that the 1937 industrial disputes started in 1936 when Fitzgerald was governor and were left untreated. Murphy criticizes Fitzgerald's position on the Townsend plan and declares Fitzgerald indorsed Townsendism at a Detroit meeting and later changed his mind.

"Fitzgerald's statement," said Murphy, "led the Townsend people to believe he was for them. Then he said he did not mean what he had said. But in the meantime he had drawn the Townsend support in the primary, which was what he was after. It is a typical old guard device."

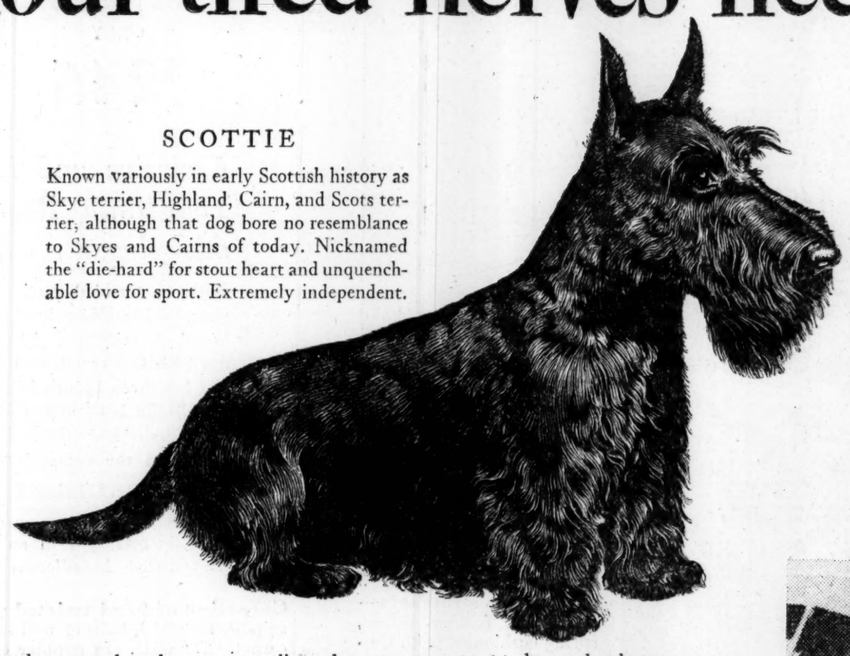
Your tired nerves need frequent relief



SCOTTIE

Known variously in early Scottish history as Skye terrier, Highland, Cairn, and Scots terrier, although that dog bore no resemblance to Skyes and Cairns of today. Nicknamed the "die-hard" for stout heart and unquenchable love for sport. Extremely independent.

HE'S GIVING HIS NERVES A REST...

AND SO IS HE

LIKE humans, dogs have a complicated set of nerves. But dogs are kinder to their nerves than we. They rest when they need rest...we plunge ahead with hurry and worry—straining our nerves to keep up the fast pace. We can't turn back to the natural paces of life like an animal, but we can protect, soothe, and calm our nerves. Smoking a Camel can be your pleasant method for breaking nerve tension. Camels are mild, with the flavor of a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos. Smokers find Camel's mild tobaccos delightfully soothing—soothing—to the nerves.

SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE ADVISE

"Let up—light up a Camel"

INCA GOLD WAS THE LURE that led Capt. E. Erskine Loch deep into the grim Andes. "Bucking steaming jungles and dizzy peaks means terrific strain on the nerves," he says. "My standing rule is to let up and light up a Camel often through the day. I find a pause with a Camel never fails to ease and soothe my nerves."

DID YOU KNOW:

—that tobacco plants are "topped" when they put out their seed-head? That this improves the quality of leaf tobacco? That most cigarette tobacco is harvested by "priming"—removing each leaf by hand? The Camel buyers know where the choice grades of leaf tobacco are—those that cure up nicely—the mild, ripe, fragrant tobaccos. Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS... Turkish and Domestic.

"HOUSEWORK, shopping, and social affairs," says busy Mrs. V. G. Weaver, "would get me strained and tense if I didn't rest my nerves every now and then. I let up and light up a Camel frequently. Really, Camels are so restful—so soothing to the nerves."

Today...what is

Changing the World more than any other one thing ?

International relations, boundaries, isolation, balance of power; all of these and more must be recalculated and measured by the new yardstick of aviation.

Dictators, Kings and Presidents; Armies, Navies and Diplomats are compelled to revise and readjust their conceptions to meet the world's greatest single new challenge, aviation.

★ ★ ★

To survive ON earth—we must travel ABOVE the earth. To ignore this spells decadence. To be slow to utilize it gives the other fellow too many advantages.

★ ★ ★

You may believe all of this is true, as applied to governments and military men—but that air transportation is not a necessity for you.

We submit that air transportation has as much application to you individually, and to your business, as it has to competition among nations. You cannot remain detached and uninfluenced by an economic force which spans the Atlantic in a few hours and makes TWIN CITIES of New York and Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

Scientists, engineers and manufacturers are being spurred in the greatest race of all times—the race for supremacy in the air. Nations are getting ready.

But in air transportation YOU HAVE NOTHING TO WAIT FOR. America has the finest air transport system in the world. Finest in equipment; finest in dependable performance, day and night, every day of the year.

TODAY you can join the tens of thousands of others who are enjoying the advantages of air travel.

Last month American Airlines, Inc. alone carried more than 40,000 passengers.

No one can measure the hours of travel-time these people saved—nor, how much business was expedited and productivity increased—nor, how much personal pleasure and comfort was made possible by this modern mode of travel.

You may question the worth to you of this new, swift method of transportation. No doubt there were many who had similar questions when they learned that the world was not flat—when gunpowder was discovered—and again with the advent of steam power.

But no one denies that each new era broke the old molds and recast new worlds. There was no turning back then. Those who progressed had to change their habits and adjust their thinking in terms of realism. There is no turning back now.

MORE OF THE ROOSEVELT REVOLUTION.

Each general election since 1932 has been followed by a strange pronouncement from the White House. Mr. Roosevelt has told the country that he received a mandate from the people. It was strange because the things Mr. Roosevelt said he had been authorized to do had not been mentioned to the voters before the election. Indeed, in campaigning he frequently said he wasn't going to do the very thing which later became imperative because the people had so voted. It will be remembered that in 1932 his Republican opponents said he intended to do something revolutionary with the currency and that if he carried out all the ideas they suspected were in his mind he would increase unemployment, business prostration, and general misery.

Mr. Roosevelt at the time, as a campaigner, said these arguments were atrocious and came from an opposition so desperate that it had lost all scruples and would willingly create a blind panic if by so doing it could win. A currency revolution was not the only thing the opposition suspected Mr. Roosevelt had in the back of his mind, and within a hundred days after the inauguration in 1933 it was proved that imagination had not gone a tenth of the distance. Mr. Roosevelt had a revolution in mind, although he said nothing about it.

He maintained that the voters had given him a mandate for it, although at that time it was all cloaked in emergency. These tactics have been repeated in every general election since then. Every two years the New Deal has gone to the people, withholding from public knowledge the program to be undertaken and asserting later that the vote gave a mandate for the unrevealed, unknown program. Not a word was said of the proposal to take the Supreme court out of the government of the United States, but the stunned Democratic majority in congress was told it was mandatory because the people had indorsed something of which they had never heard.

In 1936 it was apparent to any one who had examined the acts and proposals of the New Deal that the program was for the socialistic control of resources and industry, which is the first stage of communism. The communists saw this more clearly than the average imperfectly informed American, who doesn't know much about Marxist practice or philosophy.

Mr. Roosevelt took notice of the growing awareness of his opposition and specifically denied that any communist penetration of government could take place under him. Within a month after his election the communist organizers had taken possession of the C. I. O. and had made a frontal attack upon major American industries with the support of federal departments of government and New Deal governors using troops to support lawless men. The communists read the future intelligently. They still have the support of government while Mr. Roosevelt undertakes to chase every conservative out of the Democratic party and put it in the hands of the revolutionaries.

Just as he said nothing about his plan to take the Supreme court out of the frame of government, he said nothing about his program of bringing the executive departments entirely within his own control, taking away from congress jurisdiction over the partly legislative, partly judicial independent commissions to which, with reservations, the legislature had delegated large powers.

The two proposals, the one to subordinate the court, the other to consolidate the administration in the hands of one person, were complete surprises. Nevertheless, they were included in the mandate which the gulleless people were supposed to have voted with full knowledge of the facts. The court bill was so preposterous that congress rebelled. The legislative branch had seemed to be moribund but it wasn't. Mr. Roosevelt has never forgiven the men who stood in his way when he wanted to be an autocrat. The reorganization bill met the same opposition.

The real argument back of both the court and the reorganization bills had been explicit in the beginning. It was that when a government undertakes to regulate all the activities of citizens and conduct such great enterprises as the management of farms, the use of national resources, the manipulation of the money market, and the supervision of employment, commerce, and the production of goods, it must have the same freedom of decision and action with which a great private corporation conducts its business. That is, the government must be the government of what is called the totalitarian state. That may be true. If Hitler is to be Hitler, he must have Hitler's powers.

Mr. Roosevelt now says in advance of the election that he intends to force the reorganization bill again. If the New Deal wins Mr. Roosevelt will have another mandate not only for this bill but for anything else he has in mind and does not reveal. The revolution is not abandoned. It bides its time and waits. Its accomplishments to date are 20,000,000 Americans living by relief, ruinous taxation, labor war, increased unemployment, abuse of destitution for political purposes, despotic federal government, the lowest farm prices for ages, an embittered national consciousness, and benumbed private enterprise. For this the New Deal seeks an indorsement; for new and unknown adventures a mandate.

WIDER CITY PLANNING.

The legal limits of the municipal corporation, the city of Chicago, were laid down from time to time long ago, as time is counted in this swiftly growing community. They have no present relations to what is now, socially and economically, Chicago. The metropolis has long ago overrun and passed far beyond them. They exist only in the law books and as a limit of government administration, and as such they are a nuisance, checking or embarrassing expedient action for better administration and coherent planning.

The removal of these now artificial and wasteful boundaries of efficient municipal management may be difficult, but effort to make the city's legal and political framework conform to its present and future needs is long overdue and should be postponed no longer.

Cook county is another anachronism. The reality is the metropolitan district based on social and economic conditions which spread far over city and county lines which can and do only burden and complicate administration and increase its cost. We have a heterogeneous mass of petty agencies of government and jurisdictions which cries aloud for simplification in the interest of efficient administration and economy.

THE TRIBUNE, in view of this long existing evil, suggests the establishment of a plan commission to reorder these jurisdictions according to contemporary facts and future probabilities. We suggest it should consist of five members from Cook county, one from Lake county, one each from Kane, Du Page, and Will counties, and one from Lake county, Indiana. A useful study has been made of various aspects of this problem by the University of Chicago and a competent commission should be able to lay a broad foundation for remedial action. If later it should prove desirable to give the commission legal and political power, it might be done on the model of the New York board which built the tubes connecting New York and New Jersey. New York City in the last generation has accomplished an administrative-political coördination which should have useful suggestions for the planning so desirable in the Chicago district situation.

WHEN LONDON MADE READY FOR WAR.

While Mr. Chamberlain was talking to Herr Hitler London was preparing its defense of civilians. It may be difficult to distinguish the political purpose of this from the military. Each may have been equally serviceable. The extraordinary scenes of activity must have given the British prime minister a support he would have missed if the clock had been turned back fifty years and if a British population safe behind its fleet had been going about business as usual.

England was far ahead of France in the precautions taken. Londoners were being fitted for gas masks. There were few to be had in Paris, a city which has been accustomed to the dangers of bombardment and capture during years when the Londoner thought there was nothing so remote from his probabilities. Both French and British children were being sent out of the endangered capitals, but the Englishman was really digging in. His rock garden was being converted into a concrete fox hole.

Some of the octogenarians of the bulldog breed resolutely refused to have anything to do with gas masks but, excepting them, the entire population of London was fitted. The stories of overwhelming German superiority in the air were accepted as true and London was prepared to test its will and ability to survive. The gas proof chamber in home or office was tried out several years ago without giving satisfactory results, but as an alternative to nothing better the houses and buildings were supplied with gummed paper and blinds. Schools and hospitals were to be evacuated and pupils and patients sent to designated but unannounced regions.

Chamberlain's opposition had to talk against these facts so realistically presented to the populace, which had a taste of the distortions of normal life, of the insanities and miseries to follow a declaration of war. The forecast may have been greatly exaggerated, but even the stoutest civilian imagination would take a long flight. What Czechoslovakia had to pay did not seem a high price for what the Londoners escaped.

AIRPORT ON THE LAKE.

When a man flies to Chicago from Detroit he is in a hurry to get here, probably has some important business to transact. But the plane doesn't bring him to the loop but to a field miles away. In these days, when time is precious, a landing field far from the loop is the same inconvenience that it would be if the railroads unloaded the Chicago passengers at Berwyn, Evanston, or Hammond.

At the rate flying is expanding, the demand for an airport on the lake adjacent to the center of business cannot long be defeated. Possibly ten or even five years hence, popular demand will force action, and then the serious problem will present itself of getting enough earth to fill in an area adequate for a flying field.

With the construction of the subway we have the opposite problem handed to us, of what to do with the excavated material. As several writers in the Voice of the People have suggested, why not build the lake shore airport and the subway simultaneously, solving at the same time the problem of what to do with earth taken out of one hole, and the problem of where to find earth to fill in another one.

Editorial of the Day

FOSTERING HATRED.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Although he draws a salary paid by the American people as a whole, Secretary Harold L. Ickes finds time to leave Washington on periodic speaking junkets to preach a doctrine of class hatred. A more obvious abuse of his high office would be hard to imagine. The interior department has announced that the secretary will renew his inflammatory discussions of "America's Sixty Families" in a west coast personal appearance next week.

If Mr. Ickes wanted to speak against large industrial combinations and in favor of the small scale business organizations of the past nobody would quarrel with his right to do so—not even those who disagree with him. If he chose to advocate specific measures to change the contours of our economic system his right would not be denied. But he does neither of these. He merely seeks to arouse bitter antagonisms by picturing the inequalities of wealth as the product of scheming, reprehensible individuals.

Mr. Ickes takes his text invariably from a book now thoroughly discredited by its innumerable factual errors. In doing so he lays himself open to the charge of insincerity. By misrepresenting the facts concerning our economic system he loses the right to criticize it. By fostering class hatred in a country singularly free from it in the past he does violence to the tradition of responsibility in the public service.

GHOST THEATER GOSSIP.

"A Looper," who knows the legends of every ghost theater in Chicago, calls attention to the brass plaque at the portal of the deserted Majestic vaudeville theater, bearing the inscription, "Founded July 4, 1904." It is kept polished as brightly as it was when the late Henry Kitchell Webster, Chicago novelist, and the Linemaster used to occupy aile seats there on Monday afternoons. Here is a sample program from those halcyon days of first class variety, dated Nov. 1, 1915:

"The American Girl," Joan Verne, in classic dances; Willard, "The Man Who Grows"; Alan Brooks and company in "Straightened Out," a one act comedy; Kathleen Clifford, "the smartest chap in town," direct from a year's run at the London Empire; Marion Morgan's classic art dancers; Comfort and King in "Coon Town Divorçons"; Edward Abeles, dramatic star, in "Self-Defense"; Elizabeth M. Murray in dialect songs and stories; and Charles Ahearn, "The Tramp," and his comedy cyclists.

"Is this Atwater lass," asks Monsieur Looper, "related to Dick Atwater, who used to contribute to the Line as Riquarius, and later had a column of his own on the Chicago Evening Post?" He refers to the decorative Edith Atwater in the cast of "Susan and God." The answer is no.

There's Always a Woman.

When a tourist at Mount Rushmore was informed that the carving still under construction was Roosevelt he exclaimed, "Who, Franklin?", but his wife hushed him up with, "You don't see any battleship and fishing rod stuck up there, do you?" Clarie.

IN THE DARK HOUR.

In the dark lonely hour of death
O, God,
Give me strength to hide
My fear.
Help me to recall memories of love
And beauty,
Sunsets on quiet country roads
Or moonlight
Shimmering on a Persian blue sea,
The call
Of the cardinal heard during
A blizzard,
The solemn majesty of virgin forests.
All this
Let me remember in tranquility,
Before
You close my eyes and take
My hand.

Bunn the Baker of Baraboo, a famous Line character in the B. L. T. administration, is none other than W. H. Clark, vice president of the Piggly Wiggly company of Cincinnati. Gulliver's Dictionary.

Answering Tracy Cronin Close [10-12-'38] on the pronunciation of "Houyhnhnm" in "Gulliver's Travels":

Webster's Dictionary defines "whinny": To utter the ordinary call or cry of a horse. The pronunciation is shown as hwin-i and the explanation is given that the word is of imaginary origin, akin to "whine."

TO A FORLORN MAIDEN.

And who assured you love was sweet?
Who promised you it was replete
With everlasting happiness?
No one, at last, you must confess
But your own daft, expectant heart.
You never guessed love was a part
And not the whole of life's swift plot?
(Your lover can't be blamed a lot.)
Alas, poor maid, revise your dream

Georgia Gal, H'yah's Yo' Stew.

Let me suggest that your Georgia gal [10-11-'38] make her Brunswick stew. Here is the recipe for the best stew I ever ate:

2 tablespoons bacon grease.
1 frying chicken [2 or 2½ pounds].
2 onions, chopped.
3 cups of water.
3 tomatoes, peeled and quartered.
½ cup sherry wine.
2 tablespoons butter.
½ cup bread crums.
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce.
1 pound fresh lima beans.
1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning. [Mix these three together.]
½ cup okra.
3 ears green corn, cut from cob.

Brown the onions in the bacon grease; then add the chicken which has been cut in small pieces and seasoned with salt, pepper, and poultry seasoning mixture. When chicken is done, pour off the grease and put chicken and onions in Dutch oven. Add the water, tomatoes, the sherry wine, and Worcestershire sauce. Cook slowly over low flame for one-half hour, then add the lima beans, okra, and corn. Let simmer one hour. Then add bread crums and the butter and cook one-half hour longer. [You can use canned corn, also canned lima beans and okra.]

May I, Mr. Linemaster, call the roll of the Line's Legionnaires? Perhaps it may twinkle on to that far corner of Virginia where Uncle Richard sits now so amiably with his Sunday school class. Can you not see him telling them tall tales of the days when he commanded:

HEALTH HAZARDS OF BUSINESS EXECUTIVES.

THE other day one of the directors of a large industrial concern came to see me.

"Here's the thing in a nutshell," he explained. "At the last meeting of our board the president reported that three of our most important executives have died within the last six months. The oldest was 53, the youngest 42. And—what's more—every one was as astonished as I to learn that within the last eight years we have lost twelve men—quite too many even for a concern our size. No one of these chaps could well be spared. None was old; all were individuals of whom we had a right to expect twenty years of active and efficient service. What is happening? Are we tearing our people to pieces? Or are they dissipating and wrecking their constitutions?"

Of course, it was impossible to give an offhand opinion, because I was acquainted with but one of the victims. What load was each carrying? What of the family life? How much exercise, recreation, etc., had each taken? One guess could be made—namely, that for the last six or eight years most business leaders have had to carry from a thirty to fifty per cent increased burden because of worries and anxieties incident to the uncertain state of trade. No one could tell from day to day what could be counted upon. Many orders were accepted subject to cancellation and conditions of employment were far from ideal.

I then suggested to my friend that he send me a list of the deceased officers with as much of their medical history as could be obtained. Within a fortnight this information was in my possession and, as was to be expected, the so-called degenerative diseases—those affecting the heart, the blood vessels, and the kidneys—accounted for every instance.

"These men did not die," I remarked on our next visit. "They were killed by overwork, unhygienic living, and too many irritating and perplexing problems. Flesh and blood can stand only so much."

I then ventured the assertion, "Your company can make more money if you will pay a little more attention to conserving your man power. There is just one way to do it. Have every one in the firm checked as to his mode of life, which includes hours of sleep, recreation out of doors, the consumption of liquor and tobacco—and set that over against the tasks he is obliged to perform. If his physique proves inadequate cut down his duties and pay him accordingly. Give your ablest managers plenty of assistants and make it possible for them to get away from the overwhelming mass of detail for a week or two several times each year. Then have each individual's personal physician teach him how to rest and relax. You will save these persons not only for your business but for themselves and their families. Remember, too, that every time you lose a keen executive it costs a good deal in time and money to qualify his successor."

The curve of increase in heart trouble and high blood pressure, with degenerating vessels, has taken a sharp jump since 1930. In fact, it has been rising steadily since 1920 but not at so abrupt a rate as in the last eight years. Many a one of 50 who should be able to count on twenty years or more of activity and comfort is being cut down prematurely. Those who carry heavy responsibilities require more gentle handling than the one who pursues an even tenor or existence devoid of worries. To maintain the balance sheet in the black is a killing chore.

Every business man, as he gets along in years, should find a good, conscientious physician who will help him to keep well. While damage cannot be relieved entirely, its effects may be ameliorated, compensated for, and its progress greatly retarded. In addition, every one can curb purposeless fussing and storming at the unstable financial world. Nothing is accomplished by invective and no one is harmed but the worrier.

GOOD CHANCE TO ESCAPE.

R. C. writes: When—and if—the Dionne quintuplets are permitted to associate with children their own age, won't they be subject to every disease that comes along—having been sheltered so thoroughly up to now?

REPLY.

It is currently reported that the Dionne youngsters have been immunized against diphtheria, smallpox, and some other infections. Under this program their chances of escaping contagious diseases are excellent.

MAY BE ARTHRITIS.

D. C. L. writes: What causes a cracking of the bones in the back of the neck? I have fierce headaches lately. Could this be the cause? My eyes test all right.

REPLY.

Have your physician investigate the cause of the headache. The sounds you hear are due, no doubt, to a mild arthritis involving the spinal column. A gain in resistance is in order with more sleep, good food, and some exercise.

ABOUT 18 DAYS.

H. A. writes: How long after being exposed to mumps will a susceptible person develop symptoms?

REPLY.

PLEA FOR THE DEMOCRACIES.

Episcopal Diocese of Milwaukee, Oct. 20.—I am a subscriber of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It is delivered every morning at my door. I agree with most of what the "Greatest Newspaper in the World" has to say, except on one subject, and this one is so great that it overshadows all the rest. I have just read your editorial: "The Age of Darkness" in today's TRIBUNE, in which you deplore the censorships of the freedom of the press and the radio, so please do not censor this letter. Whether you know it or not, what I have to say in this letter is representative of long range thinking.

What you are pleading for in your editorial is the promulgation of the truth. You have been doing a lot of it, and I commend you; but when you don't tell the whole truth it is as bad as if you said nothing.

I am not presuming to tell THE TRIBUNE anything that it does not know. What I am endeavoring to do is to ask THE TRIBUNE to tell the people about the big, overshadowing struggle going on in the world today, viz: The struggle between democracy and dictatorship. The only dictatorship you seem to take very seriously is the threatened dictatorship of the New Deal, but this is a world struggle, and what Lincoln said when our national integrity was threatened is true today of the whole world: "A house divided against itself," etc.

I say you have not taken this question seriously, because every chance you can get you give England a kick in the pants. I hold no brief for England, but just at this juncture in world affairs England is fighting our battles, and in the final outcome of this world struggle as England goes, we will go. I know all about the old story of "picking the chestnuts out of the fire" for England. I know about England's failure to pay her debts, and I know about her haughtiness and conservatism, but I also know she was fighting our battles for three years before we went to her help, and if she has to fight Germany and her allies she will again be fighting our battles unless we go at it and help her.

The time has come to forget an "ancient wrong," and to ally our hearts and our thoughts with the cause for which she must be the advance guard when the ordeal comes, as come it will before long. We have received more from England and France than we can ever repay. France, who placed that Statue of Liberty at the entrance of our land, has always fought for what that symbolizes. England has given us the language of liberty, and her documents of liberty antedate any documents we have written, and taught our Washingtons, Jeffersons, and Lincolns how to write the Declaration of Independence, the constitution of the United States, and the proclamation of emancipation! They used the language of Milton and Shakespeare when they issued those documents of liberty. England stands with France as the outpost of what is left of liberty in Europe, and the aim of the dictators is to wipe them off the earth and to gag every voice of liberty in the old world forever. Over in Naziland the youth march to the tune of a song, the chief words of which are: "Spit on Liberty! Spit on Liberty!" I say, for God's sake let no sane American newspaper "spit" on the nations who are upholding liberty. Send England and France some words of encouragement as they meet the issue that still has to have its full story written in the blood of their noblest sons, and thank God they are there to do it.

In this country too many of us have fallen into a spirit of criticism and cynicism, but the time has come for some constructive work, especially on the part of the press which molds public opinion. Tell the people the full truth about the world issue, tell them that when the fight comes there will be no such thing in the vocabulary of the nations as neutrality, for when that time comes the world will be on the way to becoming "all one thing or another." I am an American, I stand for everything the flag stands for, but I also believe the time is coming, and very fast, when our flag will again have to be unfurled in world struggle that the freedoms we have won may be preserved for our children and our children's children. It is a sad thing that this is to be, but let us meet the issue squarely, let us with the English poet take up the refrain:

Then fling them out to the breeze,
The shamrock, the thistle and the rose:
And the Star-Spangled Banner unfurl with these—
A message to friends and foes—
Wherever the sails of peace are seen—
And wherever the war-wind blows.

WILLIAM DAWSON, Archdeacon.

YOUTH IN PUBLIC LIFE.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—"T. R." was president of the police board of New York at the age of 37, and three years later was elected governor on his way up to the heights. Thos. E. Dewey is 36 and his opponents wag their heads as they deprecate his youth. The comparison of these two men suggests thrilling possibilities. Never has there been greater need of a militant young crusader at the helm than in this era of "crime, communism, and corruption," when there are forces undermining the very fabric of the commonwealth.

New York is a fertile field for muckraking, and all protectors of rackets, blackmailers, grafters, vote buyers, gangsters, thieves—all such gentry to a man will agree with the New Deal that Mr. Dewey is too young and that his election wouldn't be healthy for them.

READER.

A FAVORED GROUP.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 21.—I had some business in your windy city and I was surprised to see an entire block on Dearborn street, from Adams to Jackson, with various automotive contraptions boldly displaying some sort of sign from a federal department in the United States courthouse. It seemed rather funny to me that any federal employé should be permitted to park his vehicle in flagrant violation of the parking ordinance in your beautiful metropolis. Can't THE TRIBUNE put a stop to such reprehensible practices? POLIKARP PARADA.

BUILD A LANDING PORT!

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Regarding disposal of the earth to be removed for the subway, why not use some common sense and employ it to build a landing port on the lake front for what must come in the future—air transportation. I presume this would be a little too far sighted for politicians.

ONE OF THE COMMON HERD.

A USE FOR THE DIRT.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—"Getting rid of the dirt," say the subway engineers, "is creating a problem." I suggest THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE handle the matter. It has been mud-slinging aplenty these last few years. Most remarkable how it disappeared in thin air, too.

V. J. BIENIEWSKI.

KNOWING ABOUT FIREARMS.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—As to cruelty in hunting, admitting the beauty of our furred and feathered game—also that it is no longer necessary to kill game for food as it is cheaper to go to the meat market—have your correspondents considered the matter from the angle that sportsmen through their familiarity with firearms are a bulwark of national defense?

Would you wish to leave knowledge of the use of shotguns, rifles, and pistols to gangsters and warlike nations? I know several young men who cannot tell the difference between a shotgun and a rifle, and as for loading and sighting a gun, they would require months of training to acquire the knowledge of the average sportsman who does a little hunting each fall.

While past the usual military age, I would give a good account of myself if a high powered rifle was placed in my hands in defense of the United States of America. The reason—in addition to the fact that I love my country, I actually love guns. To me they are a thing of beauty, the work of master craftsmen. I have been familiar with them since childhood, and when tramping the woods and fields each fall I seem to call forth the spirits of the pioneers. I feel that too many of our citizens are incapable of being thus inspired by the legends of our forefathers who provided for their tables with a 14 pound squirrel rifle.

C. H. HILL.

JUSTICE IN A HURRY.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—I was sitting in the Municipal court one morning with my stenographer, waiting to intervene as a "friend" in one of the many cases in that scene of human tragedies.

About 10:25 a. m. the judge spoke: "Gentlemen, please hurry. I go on the air in three minutes."

The clerk rattled off about ten names. And the judge went on the air in ample time. The destinies of ten citizens had been determined inside of three minutes.

Has the Chicago Bar association any comment to make from the standpoint of ethics? Or any action to offer? Why not delegate a competent attorney to "sit in" each day? R. C. T. B.

MOSCOW TECHNIQUE HERE.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Mr. Orr's cartoon, "The Demon Spy Chaser," in today's TRIBUNE most graphically illustrates how completely the New Deal is controled by subversive influences. For five years now the Moscow technique has been used on the American people, and yet the great majority of us go on unconcerned about it. How come? How long will the Americans who believe in a constitutional form of government stand for this steady progress toward regimentation of all our activities? S. H. B.

LINCOLN SAID IT.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—On Sept. 17, 1859, in Cincinnati, Abraham Lincoln made the following statement:

"The people of these United States are the rightful masters of both congress and courts, not to overthrow the constitution but to overthrow the men who pervert the constitution."

I suggest that next month the voters overthrow the men who we know beforehand, if elected, will overthrow their fellow Americans for a smile and pat on the back from Roosevelt. E. A.

GUNSHOT IN NIGHT ADDS TERROR TO MYSTERY KILLING

Fire Into Home of Kin of Slain Woman.

New mystery and terror were injected last night into the puzzling murder of Mrs. Mary De Vuono, attractive housewife, who was shot to death in her basement home at 1536 Wieland street Saturday afternoon.

An unknown gunman fired a shot into the home of her husband's sister, Mrs. Florence Foerstner, 2055 North Kedvale avenue. The bullet went through a side window and through an open bedroom door. It crashed against the bedroom wall and fell upon the floor.

Mrs. Foerstner and her husband William, a candy vendor, discovered the bullet on their return home last night. They notified police. No neighbors had heard the shot. The Foerstners could not account for it.

Believed Act of Terrorism.

Police think the shooting was a terroristic act. They were impressed by the fact that the bullet was of .32 caliber, the same caliber as the bullets that killed Mrs. De Vuono. The bullet in the Foerstner home will be tested today to see if it was fired from the gun that killed Mrs. De Vuono.

Meanwhile Capt. John Horan of the Hudson avenue station exonerated Ross [Rosario] De Vuono, husband of the slain woman, of suspicion. The murderer was probably one of her several suitors, he said. One of Mrs. De Vuono's friends was being held last night. He is Joseph Dandrea, 917 South Bell avenue. He admitted he had been intimate with her in the past.

"For several months," said Dandrea, "I boarded with the De Vuonos. I used to take Polly [as the slain woman was known] out. After I quit boarding there I returned several times when I knew her husband was away."

Quiz Friend of Couple.

Dandrea convinced the police, however, that he was not near the house Saturday afternoon. It is believed the fatal shots were fired shortly after 5 p. m. De Vuono discovered the body early in the evening when he returned from work in his father's haberdashery at 333 North avenue.

James Nudo, 25 years old, 624 South Leavitt street, also was questioned. He said he was a friend of both De Vuono and his wife, but denied any intimacies with the woman. He said he had introduced Dandrea to her. He was aware, he said, that Mrs. De Vuono was not true to her husband, but didn't consider that any of his business.

An informant, whose name was withheld, told the investigators that De Vuono had a fight outside his house three weeks ago with a man whom the wife had refused to allow inside. De Vuono asserted he did not know who this man was. The police hazarded a guess that this man might have killed the wife out of revenge.

Gum Drop Customer Turns Bandit; Robs Candy Girl

A young man in a neat brown suit has been a regular customer in the candy store at 216 Madison street for several days. His order never varied: 10 cents worth of gum drops. As he ate them in the store he talked with Miss Josephine Sankowski, the clerk. Last night, however, he added new business to his rôle. After eating his gum drops he pretended he was carrying a pistol and compelled Miss Sankowski to surrender $10, with which he fled.

CANNED ORANGE JUICE IN FLORIDA PAINS GOURMETS

New York, Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Thirty-eight members of the Gourmet society, after dining in an American restaurant today on savory shish-kebab, a distinctive near east dish, heard with sympathy the complaint of James B. Pond that he could not get American types of food and cooking in the localities in which they should be famous. Pond told of being served canned orange juice in Florida where he was told that it paid to ship real oranges north. A Bar Harbor [Me.] hotel gave him canned salmon instead of lobster, he said, and a resort on Lake Erie blissfully ignorant of whitefish, ordered deep sea trout from the Atlantic ocean.

AUTO HITS POLE; FIREMEN'S AXES FREE 5 VICTIMS

Drinking Party Crash May Cost Three Lives.

In a spectacular automobile crash at 63d street and Linder avenue yesterday, five persons were injured, three probably fatally. A car which police said was traveling at high speed crashed into a light pole at the intersection putting several electrical lines out of commission.

The driver, Paul Uraski, 32 years old, of 3035 West 62d street, who told police the party had been drinking at several cafés, was pinned in the wreckage with two other men and two women. They were extricated by firemen who chopped away parts of the demolished automobile.

Held in Bridewell Hospital.

Uraski, who escaped with cuts and bruises, was taken to the Bridewell hospital and charged with drunken driving and reckless driving. The most seriously hurt are: Gladys Vincent, 19, of 6319 Eggleston avenue; Sally Wallace, 25, of the same address, and Michael Madigan, 35, of 7259 Yale avenue, who had joined the party at one of the cafés.

The third man is Harold J. Cain, 22, of 6711 Parnell avenue. They are in Holy Cross hospital. Uraski said he swerved the car to avoid hitting another machine, but Cain was not sure what caused the crash.

Miss Rosemary Hartmann, 20 years old, of 4830 Concord place, was injured fatally yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding struck a pillar of a viaduct at North and Kenton avenues. She died in the Danish American hospital. The car was driven by her brother-in-law, Raymond Flood, 3246 North Leavitt street, who was injured.

Auto Hits Trolley; 4 Hurt.

Thirteen persons were shaken and four injured last night when an automobile driven by Cecil Smith, 35 years old, 4060 Sheridan road, a painter, crashed into the rear end of a Lawrence avenue street car at Keeler avenue. He incurred a possible skull fracture, and his wife, Louise, 31, suffered face and arm cuts. They were taken to the American hospital. Mrs. Anna Holladay, 27, of Des Plaines, and her daughter Geraldine, 7, street car passengers, were the others injured. They were taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital. Geraldine suffered an arm fracture.

Police were holding for investigation Robert Faltermayer, 6345 Newport avenue, a paroled convict who admitted he was the driver of a car which struck Mrs. Clara Unger, 30 years old, in front of her home at 3318 North Menard avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 676 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 525 were killed in Chicago, where 17,005 were injured during the same period.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

BRIDE, 15, GIVES TIP; QUIZ COUPLE IN POLICE KILLING

As the result of a chance remark by his girl wife, Joseph O'Donnell, 24 years old, of Chicago, was being held by St. Paul police last night as a possible suspect in the murder of Policeman John A. Olson. The policeman was killed by two bandits in a robbery at North and Harding avenues last Thursday.

O'Donnell and his wife were seized by St. Paul police on a charge of trying to pass a bogus check there. Later Mrs. O'Donnell, who is only 15 years old, chanced to remark to a matron: "We left Chicago in a hurry because my husband was afraid the detectives would want to question him about a murder."

Police Chief C. A. Hackert became suspicious and notified Chicago police. They asked that O'Donnell be held, and that his fingerprints be sent to see if he is one of the men who are being sought for the killing. O'Donnell told Chief Hackert he left Chicago Wednesday, but his wife and Chicago police say he left Thursday.

Mother of Eight Seized, Raped on Roosevelt Rd.

A middle aged woman who is the mother of eight children was raped late last night by a Negro in the rear of 1721 Roosevelt road. She was returning to her home in Washburne avenue after a visit with her sister in Cicero when the Negro seized her. He threatened her with a knife, dragged her into an alley, and attacked her. Before leaving he took 19 cents from her purse. Four colored men were taken into custody for questioning.

BY JUDITH CASS.

AT A small cocktail party at home in Winnetka yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal announced the engagement of their daughter, Henrietta, to Philip Wyatt Moore Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wyatt Moore of Hubbard Woods. The wedding, planned for Thanksgiving time, will unite two old and well known north shore families.

The young people of both families have been good friends since childhood. Miss Boal and Mr. Moore both were graduated from the North Shore Country Day school. The former received her degree from Vassar in 1937, and since has been taking postgraduate work at the University of Chicago. She was introduced to society in 1935 at a party given jointly for Laura Bartlett, who subsequently married Mr. Moore's brother, Francis Moore, and the former Leslie Wilson, now Mrs. Roger Sherman.

Cuffnotes.

Gertrude Lawrence's real name is Dagmar Alexander. So lovely, we can't see why she changed it. . . . Douglas Fairbanks Jr. was in town yesterday visiting Miss Lawrence at the Ambassador. . . . The afternoon cocktail hour inaugurated at Vassar House restaurant last Friday is not astonishing, really, even though originally there was some question as to the combining liquor and girls' scholarships. The Vassar family brewed excellent ale early in the nineteenth century, and after the civil war Matthew Vassar founded Vassar Female college. . . . Bert Wheeler and the orchestra leader at the Hi-Hat club are carrying on a nonstop checker game. At the latest tally the score was 126 games for the orchestra leader, 95 for Wheeler.

Punch Files.

The most prized possession in the Lake Shore Athletic club library is the complete set of Punch, one of three in the world, which was the gift of David G. Joyce, whose grandfather began subscribing with volume 1, No. 1.

A department in the earlier copies is a "court circular" similar to the modern keyhole columnist's chatter. One item in the second issue discussed a pugilist, a current celebrity who quoted from Shakspeare [that's the way Punch spelled it].

This should prove to that Shakespearean scholar, Mr. Tunney, that there is nothing new under the sun.

A report of the speech of a local politician in the issue of July 23, 1841, indicates it was similar to one heard not long ago on the radio. According to Punch, the speech read as follows: ". . . . crisis . . . important . . . dreadful . . . industry . . . enemies . . . slaves . . . independence . . . freedom . . . gloriously . . . contested . . . support . . . victory . . . hurrah!"

Retort.

A picket trudges up and down at Clark street and Lawrence avenue in behalf of the Bartenders' union, David T. Robinson reports. The window of the picketed tavern has pasted on the glass an empty packet of a popular brand of cigaret, accompanied by the sign, "Our picket smokes this brand. Try to find a union label on the package."

October Along the Des Plaines.

[From the Nature Journal of Beatrice D. Phelps.]

". . . A flaming interlude, mellowed with the blue of Indian summer's haze and scented with the blur smoke of burning leaves. On a sunny bank are scattered blue violets in a second blooming; a blue enameled sky spreads far above them."

My Son, My Son.

Then there was the girl, Day Sease reports, who went into a book store to ask for that best seller, "O Boy, O Boy."

WEDDING

Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Sweany of 4623 North Keating avenue announce the marriage on Oct. 15 of their daughter, Dorothy Lorraine, to Gordon Paxson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Paxson of Dowagiac, Mich. The ceremony took place at the Mayfair Methodist Episcopal church, with a reception following in the Sweany home. The bride attended the School of the Chicago Art institute and the University of Chicago. For the last two years she has traveled with the San Carlo Opera company as a solo dancer. Mr. Paxson is a graduate of the Art institute and recently returned from a year's study of painting in Europe. He and his bride will make their home in Rockford, where he is to be art instructor at Rockford college.

By Mae Tinée.

Ronald Colman is probably the demurest of all the handsome fellows who have portrayed François Villon on stage and screen.

Though he disdains not the sword, his rapier wit and devastating smile are his stanchest weapons and once he doffs his rags he is elegant rather than swashbuckling. . . . Also he is no acrobat and, unlike some of his predecessors, spends his time on the ground instead of scaling roofs and hanging from things that jut. . . . But I, who haven't any great yen for the spectacular in heroes, found him much to my taste, and enjoyed his whimsy.

The times of François Villon, vagabond poet and adventurer, were those of Louis XI. . . . The events of this story occur during the days when Paris was surrounded by the troops of the duke of Burgundy, and her people, cut off from the outside world, in danger of starving to death.

In the king's storehouses is food enough to feed the palace crowd and the soldiery for some six months. The latter fear to fight forces they believe outnumber them, and advise surrender.

"If I were king," says François Villon, a prisoner, "I would do thus and so . . ." Louis, incognito, listening, conceives one of his diabolically mischievous schemes. . . . For one week, François, royally robed is chief advisor to the throne.

He carries things with a high hand, and loses his heart—compleat!—to Katherine De Vaucelles, lady in waiting to the queen. . . . Then the king declares the travesty over. . . . Villon is given only a few hours in which to rout Burgundy as he has said he could do. . . . The gibbet he had thought to have escaped he learns still awaits him.

But, if the king is weak and disloyal, François Villon is not. . . . He rounds up his friends, the common people, feeds them from the royal storehouses, and leads them into combat from which the Parisians emerge victorious.

Basil Rathbone's cackling, malicious, weak witted monarch is a noteworthy portrayal. . . . Frances Dee is a charming Katherine. . . . Henry Wilcoxon is a doughty Captain of the Watch. Otherwise the cast satisfies but doesn't impress.

The film is intelligently strung together and directed. I think it should please you. Certainly you'll enjoy seeing Ronald Colman again. That man sure does let us do a lot of our living without him!

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 23.—Fay Wray and John Monk Saunders will kiss and make up. . . . The Chester Morrises, after twelve years, are acting juvenile. . . . Mrs. Tevis will become Mrs. Preston Sturges. . . . In New York, Honey Chile Wilder is scheduled as the sixth Mrs. Tommy Manville, and the usual condolences are in order. . . . Jack Doyle, the Irish thrush, is hitting the Hollywood night spots with Virginia Langdon. His deportation hearing is on tomorrow. . . . The Rex Bells [Clara Bow] have given up the movie colony for keeps. . . . Now it's Jane Bryan and Jimmy Stewart. . . . No couple out here separates so often as the Edmund Lowes. Maybe they like to kiss and make up? . . . Famous Trocadero doing so badly that the band plays poker to keep itself occupied. . . . Only thing holding up the Connie Bennett divorce is the money demands of Marquis de la Falaise. Connie birthdayed yesterday and Gilbert Roland presented the birthday cake.

Wayne Morris discovered one of the Frazee sisters while on tour. And it looks like love. . . . Sir Stork is penciled-in at the Andy Devines' and the Otis Blacks. Black is the Sunday editor of the Herald-Times in Washington, D. C. His wife is an ex-air line stewardess. . . . The Errol Flynn [Lili Damita] baby rumors are ridiculous. She leaves for Europe Monday. . . . Lew Ayres and Sari Maritza are hand-holding. . . . If M-G-M will take a leaf from the magnificent manner in which Warners marketed "Pasteur" and "Zola," they'll clean up with King Vidor's "The Citadel." It is a grand picture, but it has to be sold energetically. . . . Bob Riskin is dividing his time between Merle Oberon and Loretta Young. . . . Young Frank Burke, who scored so sensationally in "Angels with Dirty Faces," has been haunting Jimmy Cagney for two years to listen to his Cagney imitations. He's a Brooklyn kid. . . . Danielle Darrieux, due here Monday, will be delayed two months. An operation in Paris. [Miss Darrieux has decided, on advice of her physician, to remain in France indefinitly, according to a New York Times dispatch from Paris last night. Her husband, Henri Decoin, said, "If she goes to Hollywood at all it won't be until next February or March."]

Danielle Darrieux.

NBC ruined Joan Crawford's Amelia Earhart sketch on the "Good News" program, by nixing the revolver shots that were to conclude the radio dramatization of the last moments in the Pacific. NBC refused to okay even a "mercy" suicide. . . . The Anita Louise-Buddy Adler split rumors are ridic. Incidentally Zanuck is raving over the color shots of her in the Temple technicolor picture. It's the first time Anita has ever been photographed in tints. . . . Burgess Meredith and Whitney Bourne. . . . Jock Whitney tells his liz that she needs more practice before she cracks the movies. . . . Coast betters pick War Admiral over Seabiscuit, on the grounds that Seabiscuit has been overworked so brutally that his legs have lost their spring. He's been used simply to make money for his owners, who are money-hungry. . . . Ed [M-G-M] Willis tells pals that he and Eugene Claire Smith will use one passport when they sail for Europe next month. She's Van Smith's mother, the coffee heiress, and worth millions. . . . Big M-G-M director will be taken off one of their biggest pictures within the week.

Bette Davis, following "Juarez" with Muni, will play the rôle of the nun in Reinhardt's "The Miracle." Muni, incidentally, personally is attempting to get Arturo Toscanini to accept a part in "Life of Beethoven." Toscanini turned it down, but Muni may persuade him. . . . Jinx Falkenberg and Edmund Grainger dining with his folks at Victor Hugo. . . . Harry Jans of Jans and Whalen drops a line saying that he will soon be back in action again. . . . Wally Vernon is the latest actor to open a night club out here. He calls his place Stage 1. Dave Chasen, Bob Murphy, and Maxie Rosenbloom are other actors doubling as Hollywood bonifaces, and all of them coining dough. . . . Chico Marx will appear on the Bob Hope program for a single performance. . . . B. P. Schulberg will star Edward Arnold in his Enrico Caruso film and dub in Caruso's recordings. . . . Joan Crawford, with pinkish hair, leaving the El Capitan theater with Cesar Romero.

Kate Smith will go jitterbug with Benny Goodman in one of his broadcasts soon. . . . Gus Kahn, who has been associated with more song hits than any single American popular composer, has been signed to a new ticket by Eddie Mannix at M-G-M. . . . Is that ring Priscilla Lane's wearing from Oren Haglund? . . . Fred Astaire and your Hollywood reporter tangle in the first round of the Bel-Air handicap tourney this a. m. So if you hear explosions forget it. . . . Vicki Lester's real heart is Billy Reed. . . . To those of us who were beginning to have our doubts about it, previews of "The Citadel" and "Angels with Dirty Faces" indicate that Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment. "Suez" and "Men with Wings" did nothing to further the impression.

Tyrone Power and Wendy Barrie are carrying on. . . . Ritz brothers are trying to persuade Zanuck to let them use a speeded up phonograph record for one of their songs in "Three Musketeers." The acceleration converts ordinary singing into the shrillest cackling you ever heard, and would be a show-stopper. . . . Just for the records: New York's new dance craze was brought back from South America last May by Minor and Root. From this column of May 16: "Minor and Root returning from Brazil with their new dance, the Samba." It has swept the east, and the only team not getting credit for it is—Minor and Root. . . . Carmel Myers recovering from an ear infection. . . . Phil Harris recovering from a tooth infection. . . . Fifty-two days to Christmas, but don't do your Christmas shopping early. Do it the hard way. . . . June Travis with Junior Laemmle. . . . Florence Baker and Adrian Samish ["We the People"] marriage-minded.

Thin Metallics Are Ideal for Smart Events

BY RHEA SEEGER.

New metallic dresses will satisfy that eternal feminine desire for dress parade. These dresses are for the special occasion when a contrary escort balks at dinner clothes, for the informal affairs when nothing less than something that glitters will do the most for your soul.

Because of the richness of the metallic fabrics, the lines of these dresses are Puritan plain. There is a little fullness in the front of the skirt and the bodice top has restrained, soft shirring. The clever sleeves come in elbow or wrist length.

The colors are especially flattering. Madonna blue shot with shimmering silver is grand for the blondes and coppertops and is effective on brunettes. Wine, rust, copper and sage green fabrics have either silver or gold woven through them. There are beautiful dark tones of red and purple and high shades of emerald green. No large, difficult-to-wear designs this season; no stiff, scratchy textures. The fabrics are thin and drape in all the high fashion streamlines of today's smart clothes.

The current showings of such supershiners are abundant. These dresses are tagged with extremely moderate prices and go under fur coats, [short or long] or with fitted dark wool fur trimmed coats.

Handsome clip buttons and belt buckles to match provide all the extra decoration You can alternate the belts with contrasts of velvet or stiff, old fashioned grosgrain ribbon, either tailored or tied softly in a large bow.

Dark accessories dramatize the dresses. Sooty black suede bag, long black gloves, wrinkled at the wrist, and black footgear would be effective. Hats can be in contrasting shades of velvet. Or you can wear the flattering, feathered creations or simple matching twists of the brocade with a misty length of dark veiling.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938, By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. By mistake they go to the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman, who receives them, they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. But young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. But they acquire one next day. David learns his former love, Betsy Greentree, lives in the mysterious house. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David sends a letter to Betsy, which is unanswered. He confronts Scarpath, who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being taken care of by his sister Evelyn. David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she is miserably unhappy. When the specialist, Dr. Broderick, insists on her taking the medicine, which always makes her feel worse, Betsy grows desperate. Alison's friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, leaving her flat one night, finds Betsy unconscious on the threshold. Revived she explains Penelope helped her escape. Colin plans to have his friend, Dr. MacConochie, examine Betsy, after he learns Dr. Broderick is a drug addict. Geoffrey appears and tries to get Betsy to go to his London flat.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

A DIVORCE DISCUSSED.

Doggedly Elizabeth whispered: "No, Geoffrey! What you say may be so, but I still can't come back. I'm free, I'm happy! Can't you see the big difference that makes toward getting well?"

She nearly added that if she were really suffering from the thing she had read about, permanent cure was out of the reckoning, but the moment had gone by.

"You'll be equally free, as you call it," he reasoned, collected once more. "We can quite soon start going about together—to theaters, concerts, even to small parties. Only that must come by degrees. Overdo it . . ." he made a significant pause, ". . . and you'll fall back where you were. One thing I've decided. That house was a ghastly blunder. Broderick's agreed that now it can't hurt you to be in the middle of London, so . . ."

"Dr. Broderick?" she cried, starting violently. "How on earth can he know?"

"He and I have both seen you, out walking with a nurse. O, he's annoyed, obviously, and anxious. Still, since you seem to have steered clear of pneumonia, he's ready to set aside his irritation in the interests of your case. He realizes as I do, you'd hardly have acted so wildly on your own initiative.

"Which reminds me: you can't surely think of saddling yourself on a woman who has a living to earn and only a small place to live in? Suppose I wait for Miss Young—that's who it is, of course?—and have a quiet talk with her. She can come along with you this evening and see you settled in the decent quarters I've got in South street. Not far from here. You and she can still meet."

"South street? But that's Mayfair! You can't manage such a rent."

"My own old digs it is. No, I couldn't pay for the place now, rather naturally, but the fact is Treddle, to whom I let it, has kindly offered to turn it over to us for the rest of the winter. You've never seen it, have you? It's pleasant and comfortable—with a lift. O, yes, I've already moved in—and Evie's back in the country. So that means a nurse. We'll contrive it somehow, till you're able to do without one."

"I'm sorry," murmured Elizabeth, conscious that her defences were one by one being battered down. "I just can't, that's all."

"You can't?" There was another subtle alteration in him. "Then the real obstacle, I imagine, is this Beddoes?"

"I've not seen him," she said quickly. "He's not been here at all."

"But you will be seeing him." Her husband's lips curved bitterly. "Well, and may one inquire what you and he propose doing? Because whatever you may plan you are still married to me."

Hotly she cried, "But you can't want to hang on to me, Geoffrey! Why couldn't we call it quits on both sides?"

"I don't at all wish to divorce you," he informed her dryly. "And it so happens you can't divorce me."

"Don't be too sure," she flashed. "I'm American—and there's always Reno, you know."

She had a fleeting consciousness of having scored. Despite scant knowledge on her part, despite the fact that till this moment Reno had never entered her mind and that lack of funds made it the wildest dream, she still saw the crack in an armor apparently perfect.

"I see," he remarked, curiously detached. "Beddoes means to provide the cash. Yes. And I," he added, "would automatically enter counter proceedings. You realize what that would mean?"

Steps on the stairs. Thank God!

"If you don't," said Geoffrey calmly, "perhaps Beddoes will enlighten you. Think it over. Here is my address."

He pushed a card into her unwilling hand and without further argument ran lightly down the stairs.

"You there, all in the dark?" called Badger, panting up. "Talking with some one, were you? O, dear!"

Elizabeth was clinging to the door knob, a small, huddle shape. Badger got her inside. As the light went on Elizabeth staggered and clung on to a chair.

"Here, now, this won't do! Did he give you a nasty turn? Get on to that sofa. There! What about a wee drop of brandy?"

"I'm all right." Was that crumpling process going to start all over again? O, anything, anything but that! It would prove Geoffrey was the oracle he generally had been till now. "Really! It was nothing. He'd come to the wrong flat. All I want is some tea."

Her heart still pounded to suffocation. Her lips formed the words, "So stupid! What can he do?"—but they carried no conviction. No good pretending, ever since that Saturday evening two weeks ago Geoffrey, her husband, had terrified her. The feeling simply wouldn't go.

Here she was, perfectly safe, yet undergoing all the old cringing sensations. He had sounded so sure. The very ring of his voice had, as always, shriveled all her confidence. He had made her see that by her own mulishness she was deliberately courting disaster—and directly she took a step this damned knee had given away!

Tea steadied her a trifle, but Alison and the doctor, coming in together, weren't fooled.

"Overdoing it, I see," said Colin, sitting down beside her. "How far did you go?"

"It was the shock of finding the strange man on the landing, wasn't it, ducky?" Nurse Badger answered for her. The two stiffened, but all Colin said was, "Yes, I'll have just a cup. Never mind if it's weak," and waited till Badger was gone.

They looked stern and a little frightened. "What was Badger up to, leaving you like that?" ground Colin angrily. "For I take it you ran into him alone?"

"Don't blame her! She was only a little way behind, and . . ."

"What did he say?"

She repeated with a few omissions what had passed on the landing, saw a tense stillness come over them both.

"He . . . he insists my being like I am is all Dr. Broderick's doing. That I'll undo it entirely unless . . ." Her sentence died to nothing.

Another dead silence. Alison moved quietly into the bedroom.

"Is it true?" besought Elizabeth, catching wildly at Colin's hand. "If I go on as I'm doing will I slip back?"

With pitiless clarity Colin saw what was happening. What dared he say? If MacConochie had so much as set eyes on her . . . but he handn't.

"In my belief, no," he answered slowly. "All the same, it will require considerably more time before we can speak with real assurance."

She had seen him battling with himself and put the worst construction on it. She bowed her head to show she understood.

"I ought anyhow to leave here," she said after a moment. "I . . . I think maybe I ought to make up my mind now, before David gets back. What do you advise?"

Warns Menaces to Democracy Endanger Religion in America

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Monsignor Joseph M. Corrigan, rector of the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., yesterday forecast the day when both Catholics and Protestants in this country might have to explain what right they have to be Americans.

Speaking before the Charles Carroll forum in its first fall meeting at the Palmer house, the Catholic educator pointed out that every time Fascism or communism triumphs, the Christian is put under increased suspicion and for believing in God has to defend himself. He explained that events of the last few weeks have proved that European democracy is flickering out.

"And the same thing could happen here," Msgr. Corrigan declared. "Then we, as Christians would have to explain why we are Americans just as the Christian in Germany is forced to defend his beliefs and explain why he is a German."

"The Crisis in American Education," was the subject of Msgr. Corrigan's address.

"Catholics and Protestants alike should take all legitimate steps toword preserving democracy in America," said Msgr. Corrigan. "All of us know of subversive influences already at work here. They are many and insidious and and they are gaining ground with every passing month."

Msgr. Corrigan outlined what he called the logic of irreligion, and explained that men without religious faith or hope are virtually bound to say that killing, stealing, and untruthfulness are all right so long as the irreligious man or his family benefit and get what he wants in this world.

"The crisis in education is religion without God," said Msgr. Corrigan. "We have had three generations of it in America, and now 66 per cent of our people say they have no religion."

The program of Catholic education for America was outlined. Msgr. Corrigan said that the system is to revitalize the study of civics, which, under Christian views, begins with the understanding that government is a divine institution.

"It is our purpose to have Catholic children taught principles of true democracy, and that government is of God," said Msgr. Corrigan. "They are to be so well grounded in duties and responsibilities of good citizenship and just government that the propaganda of isms will fall on deaf ears; that these isms everywhere lead to loss of personal and natural liberty."

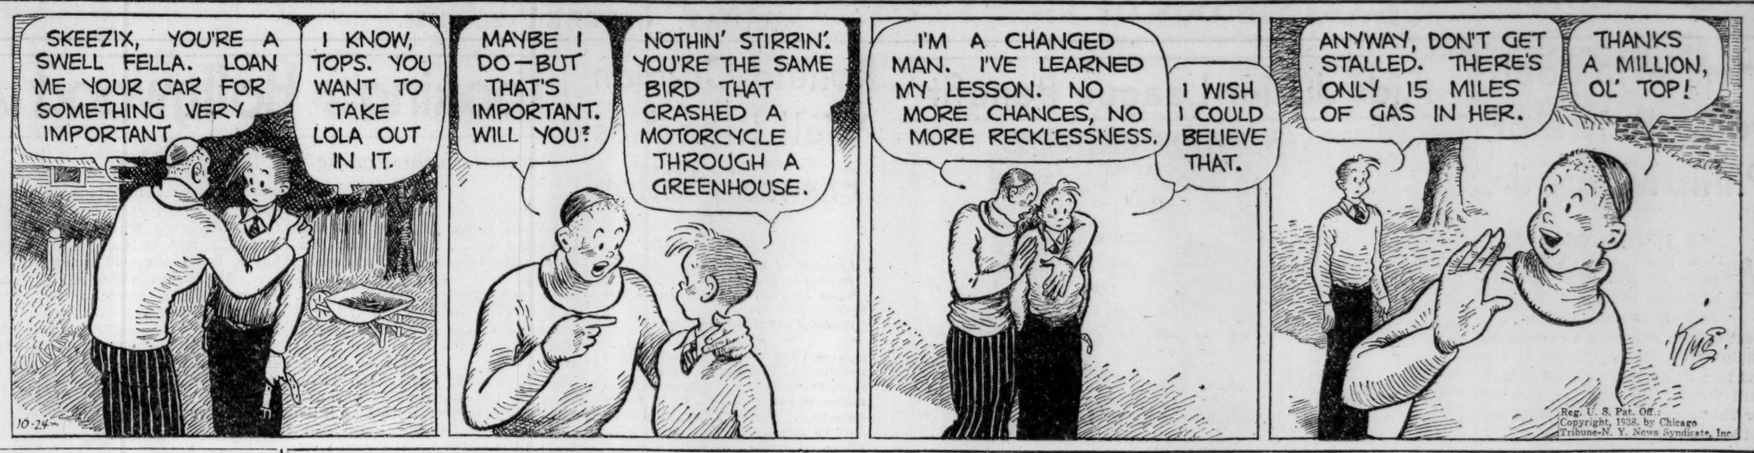
GASOLINE ALLEY—NONRESISTANCE VERSUS PERSISTENCE



Cleanliness Is the Basis of Girls' Appeal

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The girl who models gowns at fashion shows and whose picture appears in the ads for streamlined cars and soaps and cigarets isn't necessarily a perfect beauty according to classic standards. Her form and features may be wanting in many respects, but the certain something that sets her apart from others, the quality that enables her to adorn the product and to put herself across, is based on the poise that derives from daily soap and water bathing and grooming that is perfection itself.

"No woman may be considered truly lovely unless she is the personification of cleanliness," says the exercise director of a school that turns girls with an aptitude for modeling into the smooth-looking ladies who smile at us in the magazines. "Cleanliness has an immediate and far-reaching effect. Its wholesomeness is felt whether one is alone or in association with others. In business or social contacts, the girl who neglects the principles of cleanliness lays herself open to punishment which may prove costly."

Girls at the school who hope to make good as models when they complete their lessons in the art of walking, standing, and wearing clothes, are checked and rechecked on the cleanliness of skin, hair, teeth, and fingernails. Everything they wear from gloves to girdles, must measure up to the highest cleanliness requirements before they are recommended for assignments to pose.

These standards are high but by no means too high for general acceptance. With normal health, a pleasant manner, and those ever-ready helpers, soap and water, every girl can at least approximate the comehither quality of the girls who pose for the ads.

We have kept our ears open to compliments addressed to those of our sex of any age. For youth is reserved, apparently, what we think is the nicest compliment of all, namely a tribute to the fresh, clean crispness of skin and everything else which young women have as their natural right. Never again do women quite achieve that "fresh blossom" appeal of the 'teens which is earned and maintained by youth so easily with superb neatness and cleanliness.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

This and That:

While we think of it, and if your ears can stand just one more suggestion about their care, we want to stress the important part that a powder brush plays in keeping them good looking. If you have not been a consistent user of such a brush, it's a good time for you to start remembering that there is such a thing. Observation alone prompts us to emphasize the need of this beauty aid.

The high hairdress has moved the ears out of seclusion into the spotlight.

Powder your ears by all means, but do something about it afterward. Wield your powder brush and finish your makeup so that your ears will show that they belong to your face—not something coated and stuck on afterwards. A few deft strokes will take care of this nicely and you'll not be guilty of sallying out with plastered-looking ears.

What could add more to the beauty of the toeless evening sandals than to have the pink-tipped toes tap off perfumed steps? We're told that it is quite the thing to put a drop of perfume between the toes before tripping the gay measures.

To keep life smooth and your nail tips too, use some of those colored emery boards. They come in four colors, a dozen to a package. They're fun to use. FLORENCE MURDOCH.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Overtime

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

"Dear Miss Brown: I have always had steady employment until a year ago, when I had to break up my family and send my wife and child to her parents. However, I am now in a position to secure work with my former employer, and, as this job requires a fairly well dressed man, I am coming to you for help. I have never before accepted charity from any one, but this is a case of necessity, as I am anxious to reunite with my family. If you can get me a suit, and possibly a topcoat, it will be of the greatest help to me. Mr. H."

Decent apparel will help the man to be self-supporting and bring back his wife and child. He is short in stature and lives on the north side.

Look at the label on the bottle of flavoring which you are buying, and you'll know whether it's a true extract or an imitation one. Manufacturers are required by law to tell the truth in this respect, and federal standards have been established for many extracts and volatile oils used as flavorings. If you're careful, you won't go wrong.

Not that one should shun imitation extracts, for many of them are very fine, and in many instances the imitation extract is the only one available. True extracts of vanilla, lemon, and orange are usually perferred to their imitations. Because many women do not realize the variety of flavorings available for cookery uses, I'm going to mention some of them.

ALMOND: The essential oils of almonds are extracted, distilled, and dissolved in alcohol and water. Almond flavoring is popular for angel cakes and for many types of cookies.

ALLSPICE: Allspice extract is convenient to use when the darker color which would be produced from ground spice is objectionable.

CINNAMON, CLOVE: These flavors are good for cakes and cookies, also for pumpkin pie and certain types of candy, although many women prefer the ground spices.

LEMON: True lemon extract is not made from lemon juice, but from the oils found in the rind. Imitation lemon extracts may be made from a "lemon grass" grown in India.

ORANGE: Orange extract is made the same as lemon extract, from the peel of oranges.

PEPPERMINT: Peppermint, wintergreen, and spearmint extracts are made from essential oils of these plants, dissolved in alcohol. They're convenient for flavoring puddings, candies, frostings, and ice creams. Often the oil itself is used in minute quantities for the same purposes.

VANILLA: True vanilla is made from vanilla beans, percolated with alcohol and water. Imitation vanilla is made from synthetic substances and is considered inferior to the true extract in flavoring qualities.

These are other less demanded true extracts or oils for which federal standards have been established: Celery seed, cassia, ginger, savory, sweet basil, sweet marjoram, thyme, tonka. Garlic and onion may be purchased in extract form, too.

True fruit flavorings are made from fruits, of course, but most of the flavorings we buy are synthetic products. Many groceries carry apple, banana, raspberry, cherry, pineapple, pistachio, rum, strawberry, black walnut, and maple flavoring, which are good imitations of the real thing.

Aprons Solve Gift Problem

WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRONS.

With Christmas only a couple of months away you should begin thinking about the gift problem. The admonition to start one's shopping early also applies to making gifts early, to save last minute rushing. No need to remind you that the present one has given her personal attention and time always is greatly appreciated by a friend, even more so than the gift that has been carefully selected in the shops. Aprons make perfect presents, whether the intended recipient has a home of her own or not. Even bachelor girls don aprons now and then!

The pattern presented today fashions four aprons, each with a different suit in cards as its theme. They are simple to make and unusual. All the pretty plain and figured cottons make up well, and you will have great pleasure in concocting interesting schemes.

Style No. 2631 is designed for sizes small, medium, and large. The medium size requires 2 yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 39 inch contrasting for the ace of hearts apron. See the pattern envelope for the other requirements.

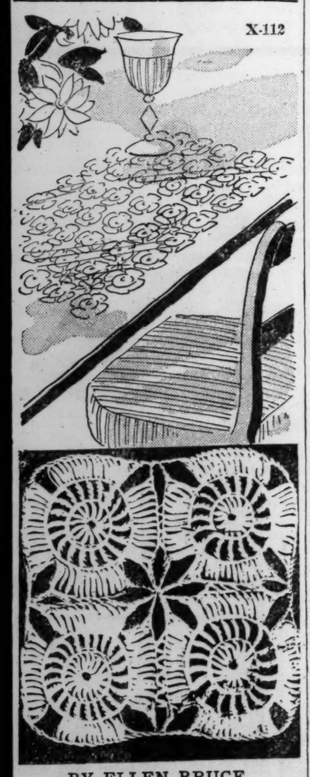
Luncheon Set Is Crocheted in a Medallion Series



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

If you want a chance to create a good looking luncheon set piece by piece, here is the opportunity to make an unusual one. Each individual medallion requires about five minutes of one's time. When all are completed they are joined together with a minute tack and a couple of bands of single crochet around the edge, or left free, according to the illustration. Dull finish mercerized crochet cotton is the material suggested, although any thread of the same tension may be used.

For instructions for crocheting the luncheon set of individual wheel medallions, No. X-112, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The second week of the self-rating bridge examination begins today. No questions were posed last Monday [the column was given over to explaining the conditions of the exam.] so there can be no answers today. Tomorrow Questions 1 and 2, which appeared last Tuesday, will be restated with the answers. Also you will be told how many points to deduct from the 1,000 par if you answer either or both questions incorrectly.

Question 8—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠ K J 9 5 2 ♥ Q 2 ♦ A Q 8 ♣ K J 9

Question 9—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 spades	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠ 6 3 2 ♥ K J 8 ♦ J 5 2 ♣ K J 8 4

What call do you make now?

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	Pass
3 spades	4 clubs	4 spades	5 clubs
5 spades	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

South was faced with a difficult decision over East's five club bid. True, he could be reasonably certain of defeating five clubs, but freakish East-West distribution might "fix" him. In any event he could not count on a substantial penalty and, since there seemed a good chance to make five spades, he chose that course.

The closeness of the bidding decision was reflected in the play. A spade shift after the first club lead would have defeated the contract. However, on the actual club continuation, declarer ruffed, drew the adverse trumps, and led a diamond from dummy. East played the queen [if he had ducked declarer would have put in his jack as the only hope] and declarer won. The diamond jack then smothered West's ten, while losing to East's king. Declarer won the heart return with the ace and discarded his remaining hearts on dummy's three good diamonds.

The Housewife

You can clean your rings and other jewelry at home if you provide yourself with the right little kit. In a silver box is a bottle of blue liquid and a tiny brush. Pour a little of the liquid in a cup—it doesn't need to be diluted with water—and dip the brush in this solution, then scrub your jewelry until a good lather appears. Rinse in clear, cold water and dry with a soft cloth. That's all there is to it, but you'll be rewarded by stones that sparkle and platinum settings that are spic and span again.

This jewelry cleaning kit is so attractive that it makes a pleasing gift or a clever bridge prize.

News Makers Satirized by Clever Dance

BY CECIL SMITH.

Now that the Monroe street viaduct is being widened, the Goodman theater ranks as the most inaccessible spot in downtown Chicago. Whether difficulties of transportation or widespread fear of the modern dance is to blame, yesterday's recital by Hanya Holm and her group of ten girls drew a tiny audience completely out of proportion to the value of their art.

The program consisted of three extended compositions, all new to Chicago. "Dance Sonata" [music by Harrison Kerr] and "Dance of Work and Play" [music by Norman Lloyd] were originally produced last August as features of the Bennington, Vt., festival of modern dance. "Metropolitan Daily" [music by George Tucker], an even more recent piece, is Miss Holm's latest composition.

The small audience was clearly delighted with "Metropolitan Daily." Nobody had guessed before that Miss Holm possesses a giddy, intoxicating sense of humor. Here was the spectacle of a serious dancer and choreographer, who for years has suffered from such critical adjectives as "deadpan" and "humorless," sending her girls through a gay and stagewise sequence of seven movements lampooning the people who make news in the several departments of a newspaper—the financial section, the society section, the comics, the sport section, and so on. The whole piece winds up in a brilliant dance drawn from the movements typical of various sports—something Ted Shawn wanted to do a couple of years ago and could not achieve successfully.

"Dance of Work and Play" brought forth half an hour of some of the most affecting movement the contemporary dance stage knows. Miss Holm has always been the finest choreographer among modern dancers, and now that she is gaining a theater sense Martha Graham will do well to look to her laurels.

Under the joint auspices of the Polish Arts club and of the Society of American Musicians, whose prize he won last spring, Chester Bielski gave his debut violin recital in Kimball hall yesterday. Musically sensitive and capable of sustaining interest through works in long forms, he gives promise of becoming a wholly admirable player when he couples to his already warm and expressive tone a more complete clarity and facility in passage work.

The Beaux Arts salon presented two coming young singers yesterday. Robert Rich, baritone, has a superb voice of sheer velvet, but needs to improve his production. Joy Fairman, a gracious lyric soprano, sings with good schooling and charm of style.

The San Carlo Opera company ended an engagement of three weeks in the Auditorium theater last night. "Il Trovatore," the final opera, employed as its principals Bianca Saroya, Lyuba Senderowna, John Pane-Gasser, Mostyn Thomas, and Harold Kravitt. Carlo Peroni conducted.

COSSACKS HEARD BY 4,000

BY EDWARD BARRY.

That the Don Cossack Russian Male chorus is one of music's major drawing cards was proved again yesterday when a total of more than 4,000 persons attended the group's afternoon and evening concerts at the Civic Opera house.

Under the direction of meticulous little Serge Jaroff, the chorus sang an afternoon program which ranged all the way from the solemn music of the eastern church to the lusty, outdoorsy songs of Cossack riders. The peculiar richness and sonority of the Don Cossacks, plus their willingness to play around with grotesque tone qualities in lighter music, gave to the actual performance all the variety that the program promised.

Margery Mayer, young Chicago contralto who has been engaged by the Chicago City Opera company for this coming season, appeared as soloist with the Illinois Symphony orchestra, Albert Goldberg conducting, in the Great Northern theater yesterday afternoon. "Erda's Warning" from "Das Rheingold" and one song apiece of Wolf and Brahms constituted her contribution to the program.

Miss Mayer brought along her spectacularly beautiful voice—dark and menacing when the script calls for such an effect, shot with unearthly light in the Brahms "Von ewiger Liebe." That the occasion was not quite so exciting as one could have reasonably expected it to be was due to a certain stiffness of delivery and to the resulting lack of that priceless impression of effortless flow and complete spontaneity.

Mr. Goldberg and the orchestra played "Salome's Dance" in so calm and guarded and Victorian a manner that no censor could possibly have taken exception.

Charles Henry Manney, colored baritone whose great virtue is his ability to deliver a legato phrase with great smoothness and remarkable tonal beauty, sang a successful recital at the Studebaker theater yesterday. In Giordani's "Caro Mio Ben" the baritone's specialty was admirably demonstrated. In more rapid music, or in music requiring forceful delivery, the voice falls of proper support and loses its suavity of texture.

Recent European developments sent Mrs. Mary I. Porter hurrying back to her Manchester, Vt., home from Paris, where she also has a residence. Later in the winter Mrs. Porter probably will come to Chicago for a visit with her sons, Henry H., John P., and Prentice, and their wives. The Fletcher Durbins, who occupied Mrs. Porter's Vermont house during the summer, are back in their Astor street home.

Mrs. Claude Leigh of London is at the Plaza in New York for a stay of four or five weeks. Mrs. Leigh, who was Miss Myrtle Johnson of Cricago, may come west for a brief visit here before returning to her home.

Mrs. Trevor C. Stamp and her young son, Buster, have sailed for their home in England. They had been visiting Mrs. Stamp's mother, Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth, in Evanston. Mrs. Bosworth also has had her other daughter, Mrs. Gordon Padley, visiting her this summer. Mr. Padley is coming from England late this month to join his wife and small daughter, June, and to take them back to England some time next month.

Girls to Sell Flowers at Infant Welfare Ball.

Five pretty young girls have promised to sell flowers at the ball that the Evanston Infant Welfare Juniors are giving on Oct. 28 at the Palmer house. They are Miss Florence Dingle, the Misses Kathleen and Jane Calkins, Miss Ann Willitts, and Miss Harriet Schwartz.

Several cocktail parties have been planned before the ball. Mrs. John Dingle, chairman of the party, Mrs. Robert Grier, who is organizing a Dutch treat party; Mrs. John Montgomery, Mrs. John M. Scott, president of the juniors, Mrs. W. Burton Ellis, and Mrs. L. W. Graaskamp are some of those giving parties. Dr. and Mrs. John Merriman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buchanan are coming to the ball from Elsa Maxwell's lecture in Orchestra hall. Miss Maxwell is being brought to Chicago by the Junior Guild of St. Luke's procathedral.

Four new members have been added to the board of the juniors. They are Mrs. Arthur Kohlbusch, Mrs. Noble MacFarlane, Mrs. Louis E. Tilden, and Miss Helen Chapman.

The Reserve Officers' Association of the United States has issued invitations to an Armistice dinner, reception, and ball for the new commanding general of the 6th Corps area, Maj. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, to be given in the grand ballroom of Hotel La Salle on Saturday, Nov. 12. "Uniform or formal" is included on the invitations, insuring that the affair will be colorful and gay.

Other especial guests in addition to Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Ford will be Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hayne Ellis, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Karl Truesdell, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Walter E. Prosser, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Nathan W. MacChesney, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Manus McCloskey, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. John V. Clinnin, Col. and Mrs. Morris M. Keck, Capt. and Mrs. Edward A. Evers, Maj. and Mrs. Chester L. Fordney, and the consul general for France and Mme. René Weiller.

Mrs. Rohn Roddick and John Leimert of Kenilworth have written a new song and dance routine known as the Flapjack, which will have its debut at the Treasure ball the Kenilworth center of the Infant Welfare society is giving Nov. 19 at the Drake. The public will be glad to learn that the simple steps are easy to learn and have been designed for use on crowded dance floors.

Four of the eight pictures whose settings, designed and erected by Chicago architects, are to form a background for the Architects' Hollywood party, Dec. 2, at the Drake, have been decided upon. They are "The Great Waltz," "If I Were King," "Artists and Models in Europe," and "Ferdinand the Bull."

"Ferdinand" is being sent here by Walt Disney and will be given a royal reception by some of the best dude ranchers in the city as he steps off the train. George Senseney, assisted by John S. Cromelin as art director, will direct the "Ferdinand" set. Supervising the other three pictures as director and art director, respectively, are Walter H. Frazier and John H. Raftery, Alfred P. Shaw and Charles Rummell, and William L. Pereira and Hal Pereira.

Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson already has issued invitations to a dinner she will give in her Astor street home before the ball.

Bright Child May Have Woes in Classroom

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Are you having complaints from Margaret's teacher about her work? Are you hearing from the principal about Stewart's behavior?

Of all the possible reasons for it, have either you or the principal or the teacher thought that perhaps it's all because Margaret and Stewart are far too advanced for the class they're in? At first glance that question may look rather silly to you. If the classwork were too advanced for them, yes—that would be easy to understand. Finding it too difficult, Margaret would do badly and lose interest, and, standing poorly in his class, Stewart would be discouraged, and also bored, and look about him for mischief. That is easy to understand. But a child doing poor work because she's too bright, or a boy getting into difficulties because his work is too easy—perhaps that doesn't make sense. But it's just exactly what can, and does, happen.

Lessons that are too easy are a bore. Also, they're quickly or sketchily done, and leave time on a child's hands. So, when a boy or girl is in a class with, we'll say, 10 year olds, yet has the mentality of a child 12 or 14, some sort of trouble, or, at best, complete lack of interest, is apt to ensue. But given work that uses his capacities to the full, that keeps him on his toes, makes of the brilliant child in almost every case a fine, industrious student, and one of excellent conduct, and in a coöperative way, too.

One of three things may be done, depending upon your school. Either your child should be advanced a grade or two—this is least desirable, since it throws him for play and social contacts with those older than he.

Or he may be put with other brilliant children in a rapid advancement class. Or his needs may be filled in a class with those his own age by the "enrichment program," under which he is given supplementary advanced work and opportunities fitted to his capacities.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Twice within forty-five seconds yesterday Jack Manders, the king of football's field goal makers, stood poised in the dusk of Wrigley field. Victory for the Bears and first place in the National league hung in the balance. High on the scoreboard, obscured to the 18,705 breathless fans by the gathering darkness, was the legend: "Cleveland, 23; Bears, 21." Then in his characteristic, methodical, confident manner Manders, automatic Jack, the infallible, kicked. And missed both attempts.

When his second attempt, made from the 35 yard line on the last play of the game, sailed wide of the uprights, a modern miracle in coaching had been wrought and the Bears had been dropped from the league lead behind Green Bay. Jubilant Ram players mobbed 26 year old Art Lewis, whose record they had just brought to three victories in three starts as a coach in the toughest league in football.

Bears March to Goal.

Manders' failures brought to a climax a spectacular game in which Cleveland took the lead in the first three minutes of play and three times came from behind to achieve its fourth victory in two years of National league competition. After Bob Snyder, a half back from Ohio university, had passed forty-five yards to Jim Benton, elongated rookie end from Arkansas, for a touchdown on the fourth play of the game, there was scoring by both teams in each of the last three periods and on each score the lead changed hands.

Full Back Bert Johnson went over from the 3 yard line to wind up a fifty-four yard march and Manders kicked the extra point to give the Bears a 7 to 6 lead early in the second quarter. Cleveland retaliated by bringing the ensuing kickoff back to the Bears' 13 yard line without making a first down. This extraordinary advance was accomplished with the aid of Carl Brumbaugh, veteran Bear quarter back, who attempted to handle a high bouncing punt by Corby Davis, formerly of Indiana, and fumbled. Ted Livingston, a tackle from Indiana, recovered for Cleveland on the Bears' 21 yard line. Nelson Peterson of West Virginia Wesleyan restored the Rams' lead by place kicking a field goal from the 19 yard line.

Manske Scores with Pass.

In the third quarter, Bernie Masterson passed to Eggs Manske for forty-four yards and the Bears' second touchdown.

Joe Maniaci, former Fordham half back, added the extra point. Cleveland again bounced back into the lead when, a few minutes later, Dick

BATTLE SCENES ALONG THE PRO FRONT

Third Down, and 4 to Go; What to Do?

BY WILFRID SMITH.

It's third down and four yards to go. Your team already has marched into the enemy territory. Your next choice of play probably will make or break the scoring drive. What would you do, run, plunge, or pass?

This third down selection under these circumstances possibly is the most difficult decision for a quarter back. Certainly it frequently decides the game. Monday morning quarter backs, on the record of Wisconsin's play against Purdue, when the Boilermakers came from behind to whip the Badgers, 13 to 7, may consider this situation.

Wisconsin led in the second period, 7 to 0. The Badgers had marched from their 25 yard line to Purdue's 15. It was third down with four yards needed for another first down. On the preceding play, Howie Weiss, Wisconsin full back, had plunged into Purdue's line for five yards.

Now for the Decision.

What would you call for your next play? Vincent Gavre, Wisconsin's quarter back, decided to pass and Roy Bellin, the Badger left half back, threw the pass which fell incomplete. Before the next play was called Fred Gage replaced Gavre at quarter back. Gage ordered a smash at Purdue's left tackle by Bellin, which failed to gain the required distance and Purdue took the ball on downs on its 13 yard line.

Second guessing, it is easy to say that Gavre should have sent Weiss into the line on third down. It would seem, on second guess, of course, that Weiss might pick up four yards on this third down or on fourth down. But if you agree, then consider this situation.

In the third period at Lafayette, with Purdue still trailing Wisconsin, 7 to 0, the Boilermakers got their first successful assault under way from their 41 yard line. Purdue advanced to Wisconsin's 41 yard line. It now was third down with four yards needed for a first down. Except for the exact position of the ball on the field, here is a situation identical to that which Wisconsin previously had had. Moreover, on the preceding two plays, Leon Dewitte, Boilermaker full back, had smashed the Badger line for six yards.

Passes and It Clicks.

REVIVE REPORTS BIERMAN PLANS COACHING SHIFT

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Reports that Bernie Bierman would leave the University of Minnesota as football coach were revived tonight.

Bierman, whose 1938 eleven is undefeated and who in his seven years as coach of the Gophers has produced some of the outstanding teams in college football, was reported headed for a coaching post with an outstanding university in California at $20,000 per year.

ST. MARY'S BEATS SAN FRANCISCO IN LAST PERIOD, 13-6

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 23.—(AP)—St. Mary's Gaels came from behind today with a fourth quarter scoring rally to defeat the University of San Francisco, 13 to 6.

A crowd of 20,000 saw the Gaels score two touchdowns in quick succession midway in the last period, one on a pass good for 20 yards and the other on a fifty-three yard run.

San Francisco had taken the lead in the third period on a 15 yard pass.

In the last seven minutes the Gaels opened a drive thirty-eight yards from the San Francisco goal. After charging up to the 20 yard line, they scored on a pass from Left Half Klotovich to substitute Right Half Aronson, who ran five yards.

Klotovich intercepted a pass on the San Francisco 47 yard line to open the way for the second score. On the first play he faked a pass, then broke through the opposite right tackle to run fifty-three yards.

U. S. Army Team Wins Jumping Title by ½ Point

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—(AP)—The United States army team won the international military team horse jumping championship today by half a point from the Mexican army team at the Meadowbrook show grounds. The Chilean army team finished only half a point behind the Mexican team. It was the closest competition ever recorded in an international competition in the western hemisphere. The final scores were: United States, 40; Mexico, 40½, and Chile, 41.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

JUST between you and me, and if you can get Alice Faye in on it so much the better, they say that Bernie Bierman makes little attempt to key football players into a supreme resolve to "die for dear old Minnesota." . . . Save for three or four standing mottoes on the locker room bulletin boards, there is simply a diagram of the other team's plays and the summary of observations made by scouts on the personal characteristics of members of the opposing squad. . . . The mottoes, however, probably reveal the spirit of the Gophers. . . . For example, "All of our opponents have good teams. We don't expect you to win from all of them, but every one of them can be licked." . . . And this sage observation: "Many things can be done NOW to win games. Nothing can be done AFTER the games are played." . . . To show that he also is a character builder, Bierman displays this one: "Don't be satisfied to get by. Give your best to everything you do." . . .

Barney Ross, who is visiting in Chicago, and Tony Canzoneri, bitter rivals for the lightweight championship a few years ago, live in the same apartment building in New York. . . . Jimmy O'Malley, Golden Gloves welterweight title holder who injured his eye in a recent bout, will remain out of the Catholic Youth tournament which begins next month, but will return to the amateur ring wars in time to defend the title he won in the Tribune meet last winter. . . . Ade Schwammel, former tackle with the Green Bay Packers, is operating a men's shop in Porterville, Cal. . . . Jack Ryan of Northwestern's football squad wants to be a Rhodes scholar, Dick Richards a Supreme court justice and Vince Miller a naval officer. . . . Ted Carson, football and basketball coach at Eastern Illinois Teachers college of Charleston, is convalescing from a major operation performed in Billings hospital, Chicago, last week. . . .

Al Wolff, right tackle, who will lead Santa Clara against Michigan State in East Lansing Saturday, is called the Magnificent Obstruction by Pacific coast sports writers. . . . He is rated the best tackle in the far west. . . . Hack Wilson was a howling success in his début as a master of ceremonies for a Brooklyn beer palace. . . . Frank Milkan, Indiana's sophomore guard, served two years with the United States army in the orient.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The Detroit Lions, still clinging to their National league title hopes, were roused to their best football of the season today and whipped the Chicago Cardinals, 10 to 0, before 17,500. It was the Cards' sixth defeat of the season.

Regis Monahan put the Lions in front in the second period with a thirty-seven yard goal from placement. Bill Shepherd, Detroit quarter back, climaxed a seventy-three yard mixed passing and rushing attack with a short drive through the Cardinal line for a touchdown in the third quarter. Monk Moscrip added the point.

Cards Make One Threat.

The Lions were superior in all departments. The passes of Russell, Sloan, and Robbins were bottled up by a Detroit line that showed its best rushing form of the season, and the defense completely checked the Cardinals' running game.

Chicago's best scoring chance occurred in the first period, when a forward-lateral pass, Robbins to Tinsley to Russell, advanced the ball to the Lion 22 yard line.

Russell wheeled around Detroit's right end for an eleven yard gain before being knocked out of bounds, but the Cardinals were guilty of holding on the play and were penalized fifteen yards. Shepherd intercepted Russell's pass on the next play and returned forty-nine yards. This ended the Cardinals' only scoring chance.

Vernon Huffman aided greatly the drive that put the Lions in the lead by three points when he fired a thirty-five yard pass to Jim McDonald. Jim was hauled down on the Cardinal 29 yard line and the Chicagoans massed their defense, forcing Monahan to kick his placement on fourth down.

The Lions March.

Shepherd's brilliant thirty yard return of Russell's punt in the third quarter put the Lions in gear for their touchdown drive. It was an aerial parade with Shepherd completing passes for first downs to Cardwell and Morse for thirteen yards each. Bill mixed his passes with slashes at the line in rushing to the 2 yard line.

The Cardinal defense threw back a pair of line smashes, but, on third down, Shepherd breezed around the Chicago left end without a hand being placed on him.

Throughout the second half Chicago was bottled up inside its 30 yard line while Detroit threatened to score again, marching up to the 2 yard line in the third quarter. Here Clark's pass into the end zone was intercepted for a touchback by Robbins.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Cecil Isbell, former Purdue star, led the Green Bay Packers to a 20 to 0 victory over Pittsburgh today, which elevated the Packers to leadership of the National football league's western division. He was aided by Joe Laws, the ex-Iowan, who nearly stole the show on several occasions. Approximately 12,500 braved cold weather to watch the duel between Whizzer White of Pittsburgh and Isbell, and both performed in all-American style. Whizzer's work, supported by Smith and Davidson in the back field for the Pirates, went for naught, however, when they were unable to threaten seriously more than twice in the entire game.

Between halves Isbell was presented the New York World's Fair trophy for being the most valuable college player in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S All-Star-Washington Redskin game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31. The presentation address was made by Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE.

A Pirate Pass Fails.

The Packers stepped out early in the first quarter to take a seven point lead. The score was the result of a sixty-one yard march. Laws received a Pittsburgh punt on his 39 yard line. A Pirate penalty and a line smash made it first and ten. Laws lugged the ball around end to the Pitt 40 yard line. Hinkle smacked center for two yards and on the next play Isbell scampered thirty-eight yards off left tackle for the touchdown. Hinkle place kicked the extra point.

Pittsburgh threatened in the second quarter, but the drive was broken up when Laws intercepted White's pass in the Packer end zone.

The Packers scored touchdowns in each of the third and fourth quarters. Shortly after the second half started, Green Bay set Pittsburgh deep in its own territory when Thompson caught a placement kick by Hinkle that fell short and returned to the Pirate 18 yard line. On the next play White tossed a long pass which was intercepted by Laws on the Pitt 38 yard line. Laws twisted his way to a touchdown. Hinkle's placement was wide.

Go Over on Pass.

In the final quarter a long pass, Monnett to Hinkle, was good to the Pittsburgh 9 yard line. Two plays later Monnett tossed a touchdown pass to Carl Mulleneaux. Monnett kicked the extra point.

Smith and Davidson reeled off several long gains for Pittsburgh but were unable to make any appreciable dent in the Packer line. Each time the Pirates came within scoring distance the Packer defense tightened.

Razzle-dazzle football several times cost both teams loss of the ball. The Packers and Pirates each attempted forward-laterals which were fumbled and recovered by their opponents. Gantenbein tossed one away after being tackled and Davidson, after catching a pass from White, duplicated Gantenbein's play.

STEWART TAKES OVER DIRECTION OF BLACKHAWKS

New Rules Will Allow Increased Scoring.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Manager Bill Stewart took over the direction of the Chicago Blackhawks hocky team at today's drill in the University of Illinois skating rink. It was his first appearance on the ice following his recovery from an operation for appendicitis.

Stewart called the team together to discuss the new 1938-'39 rules, of which there are five, all tending to increase scoring. This season a goalie holding a puck longer than three seconds will face a penalty shot. The three second rule was placed in the code to prevent net minders from dropping the pucks in their pads. Davie Kerr of the New York Rangers and Tiny Thompson of the Boston Bruins stopped many an opponent's scoring rally by the trick.

Can't Throw to Spectators.

Throwing the puck among the spectators also will call for a penalty shot. Mike Karakas of the Hawks and Normie Smith of the Detroit Red Wings did this repeatedly last season in clearing a caught puck. This season goalies catching the puck can clear only by throwing in back of the nets.

The penalty shot change is certain to produce more goals. Under last season's rule a player was allowed a shot at goal from a point thirty feet straight out from the goal line, but in consummating the drive the shooter was not permitted to cross the line. This lessened the effectiveness of the drive, both as to accuracy and speed. This season the same distance between the lines will prevail, but the player executing the shot may skate over the line after the shot.

Both Manager Stewart and Coach Thompson, after watching the team in a twenty minute penalty shot practice, said they believed that goal tenders this season will be able to stop only about half of the penalty shot drives.

Crease Lines Shortened.

Another change calculated to increase scoring has to do with the goals' crease lines in front and to the side of the goal nets. Heretofore, they have been 8 feet by 4 feet. Players were not allowed to score when shooting inside this area. This season the goal tenders' protection in this respect will be shortened two feet making the crease box 6 by 4.

The blue lines this season will be twelve feet wide. This change will minimize offsides because the puck carrier can be guided by a clearer vision of the line. For the same reason, the wider blue lines will enable the referee to detect the infraction more readily, thereby reducing whistle blowing.

A full sixty minutes workout followed the rules discussion, in which groups composed of forwards Thompson, Romnes, March, and Gottselig, and Northcott, Blinco, Robinson, and Dahlstrom, with Earl Seibert as defense man on both combinations, executed newly designed power plays, calculated to produce goals when the opposition is short handed.

ST. AMBROSE IS VICTORIOUS, 19-0, OVER ROCKHURST

Davenport, Ia., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—St. Ambrose college defeated Rockhurst college, 19 to 0, today before 6,700 homecoming fans. This was the twenty-eighth game St. Ambrose has played without a defeat.

St. Ambrose took advantage of an intercepted pass early in the first quarter to score the first touchdown. Stan Sosnouski carried the ball over from the 1 yard line and Jerry O'Donnell kicked goal.

John McConville ran fifty-five yards for the second touchdown in the fourth quarter. Later in the period a Rockhurst fumble was recovered over the goal line by Scarpino for the third touchdown.

PAIR WALTHOUR AND CROSSLEY IN 6 DAY BIKE RACE

Jimmy Walthour of New York and Al Crossley of Boston will wear the American colors in the Chicago six day bike race, which starts in the Stadium a week from Sunday night.

Walthour and Crossley make up one of the strongest American six day bike teams in the game . Bears Lose to Rams, 23-21, in 4th Period

Tuckey, who played a major rôle for Washington against the All-Stars last summer, rifled a pass low and hard thirty-five yards to Benton in the end zone for a fourteen yard gain and a touchdown. He also kicked the extra point and the teams changed over for the fourth quarter with the score, Cleveland, 16; Chicago, 14.

Francis Goes Across.

Sam Francis blasted his way through the Ram line for one yard and a touchdown early in the fourth quarter. Maniaci again added the extra point. This made the score, Bears, 21; Cleveland, 16. Tuckey had been taken out of the game immediately after passing to Benton to receive treatment for injuries to his mouth sustained on the play. He returned after Francis' plunge and began passing again, but the Bear defense braced and Tuckey had little success.

Just when it appeared that the Bears finally were going to take charge of the game, Stan Pincura of Ohio State brought a punt back twenty-five yards to the Bears' 43 yard line. Here was the proper place for more passes by Tuckey and the Bears centered their attention on the young man. On the first play, however, Pincura slipped back and passed twenty-five yards to Ray Hamilton, a teammate of Benton's at Arkansas. Hamilton lateraled to Vic Spadaccini, once of Minnesota, and, before Ray Nolting could get to the former Gopher, he was on the 3 yard line.

Corby Davis went over on the next play and Tuckey dropkicked the extra point, to conclude the scoring.

Only once during the game did the Bears give anything approximating the demonstration the fans had expected of them. This was a drive born of desperation after the last Ram touchdown. Only three minutes remained when Francis brought a short kickoff back to his 42 yard line. Nolting, Francis and Ray Buivid charged through gaping holes in the line, where Bears were scattering Ram defenders like so many startled pigeons. Five plays netted forty-one yards and a first down on the 17 yard line, setting the stage for the entrance of Manders.

Jack Misses No. 1.

Dropping back to the 24 yard line with Masterson holding the ball, Manders made his first unsuccessful attempt to put the Bears ahead. It came on first down, apparently because the Bears did not wish to risk having the ball stolen in a pileup during a running play. The kick went wide for a touchback and Cleveland put it in play on its 20.

Corby Davis smothered the ball for a three yard loss on the first down. Two penalties, one on the Rams and one on the Bears; Bear players feigning injuries to have the watch stopped after each play and Cleveland refusing to risk a kick, brought the game into its final few seconds. Here the Rams surrendered the ball along the sideline on their 28 yard line. There was time for just one play. Manders dropped back to the 35 yard line and in a dead silence made the Bears' last futile bid for victory. Only the joyous shouts of the Cleveland players and the gasp from the crowd pierced the silence as the ball went wide by several feet.

Figures Mean Little.

What advantage there was statistically belonged to the Bears. But there was no more solace yesterday in the yardage gained than there was in Cleveland two weeks ago, when the Rams turned in their second surprise triumph by winning, 14 to 7, on Brumbaugh's fumble of a punt. The Rams were held to a net gain by rushing of fifteen yards yesterday, against 126 by the Bears. They collected 185 yards on eight completed passes, against 100 yards on nine completions by the Bears, giving them a total of 200 yards to 226 for the Bears. Cleveland threw twenty passes, the Bears eighteen.

It's Third Down and 4 to Go--- What to Do?

this point, in three more plays, Purdue scored the tying touchdown. The rival quarter backs had concurred in judgment, but Wisconsin's pass failed and Purdue's succeeded, thus almost assuring the Boilermakers of a tie. That Purdue won was due to the perfect play in the fourth period when Bylene smashed inside the Badger right tackle and ran seventy-two yards for the winning score.

In leading Purdue's two touchdown drives Bylene, a 165 pound sophomore, definitly has asserted his position as contender for the varsity right half back job. His speed is important in the Boilermaker attack, but his passing probably will be more valuable in future games.

Wisconsin's collapse in the second half, comparable to Ohio State's fold-up against Southern California, may drop the Badgers from the current championship race. Since Wisconsin still meets Northwestern and Minnesota, undefeated leaders, it would appear that the Badgers may be fortunate to finish in the first division. Without Bill Schmitz, injured in the Pittsburgh game, Wisconsin was not at its peak, but Pitt can not serve as an excuse for Wisconsin's defeat, for on the same Saturday Purdue met Fordham in a grueling game in New York.

Illinois Loses Out, Too.

Illinois also was dropped from the list of conference leaders Saturday when Northwestern whipped the Illini, 13 to 0. Superior power and speed gave the Wildcats their first conference victory. Minnesota, which did not play last week, leads with victories over Purdue and Michigan. Ohio State, although tied by Northwestern, has scored Big Ten victories over Indiana and Chicago, whipping the Maroons Saturday, 42 to 7.

The title situation will be further clarified this week when the undefeated Gophers engage Northwestern in Dyche stadium. Michigan also will return to conference play, meeting Illinois in Ann Arbor. Saturday the Wolverines, despite Yale's first half superiority, rallied to win, 15 to 13, the deciding points being scored in the first half when a blocked Yale kick bounded out of the end zone for an automatic safety.

Iowa Meets Purdue.

In other intersectional games, the Big Ten lost decisions. Colgate defeated Iowa, 14 to 0, by passes and Indiana university, although scoring its first touchdown of the season, was beaten by Kansas State of the Big Six, 13 to 6.

Notre Dame won its fourth consecutive victory by defeating Carnegie Tech, 7 to 0. The Irish now will prepare for their invasion of New York to meet Army, which Saturday ran over Boston university, 40 to 0. One week later Notre Dame again will go east to face Navy in Baltimore.

Carnegie gave the Irish their most severe test and it wasn't until the fourth period when Milton Piepul, full back, and the elusive Ben Sheridan, half back, set up the opportunity for Bill Kerr, substitute end, to score on an end around play.

Carnegie Tech gave the Irish their chance when the Scots failed to kick on fourth down and the ball changed hands on Tech's 47 yard line. Carnegie insisted that it had been informed that the play was only third down, but despite the misunderstanding, since it was fourth down, there was no choice for the referee but to give the ball to Notre Dame.

World Series Pig Rides East in Style Today

A pig will ride in style this afternoon when Mayor Kelly sends the porker to Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York on the Broadway Limited of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The pig is Mayor Kelly's gift to Mayor La Guardia in settlement of the bet they had on the outcome of the world series. The pig, not accustomed to master drawing rooms, roomettes, or other de luxe accommodations, will travel on a huge platter in the express car on the headend of The Broadway.

John D. Allen of the new century committee donated the pig and he will be responsible for its delivery to the train. It will be placed in an armored express truck, which will have a police escort from the city hall to the Union station.

BLUENOSE WINS; LEADS THEBAUD IN SERIES, 2 TO 1

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 23.—(AP)—A rejuvenated defender of the international fishermen's trophy, Capt. Angus Walters' big salt banker Bluenose, today broke a tie with the American challenger, the Gloucester schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud, by scoring her second victory in a three-out-of-five series. The Thebaud won the first race.

Bluenose won by 6 minutes and 39 seconds over a stoutly contested 36 mile course which took the schooners twice around an 18 mile triangle. The big defender gained on each of the six legs. In Gloucester tonight the opinion most frequently heard was that a protest brought against Bluenose for improper shifting of ballast and excessive waterline proved a boomerang. After measurement showed Bluenose at least five inches too long on the waterline, Capt. Walters sent ashore about five tons of oil and air tanks and a lighting plant, all of which had injured her trim. Today she was noticeably easier to handle.

HERE'S A SPECIAL SHAVE CREAM
It's Not a SOAP... Not Greasy... Needs No Brush... No Irritating Alkalies

Daily shaving leaves many men's faces raw and sensitive. This is especially true of the man who, because of his business and social status, must shave every day.

To meet this condition, Williams has now developed a special cream for daily shavers. It's called Glider. After washing face thoroughly with soap and warm water to remove razor-dulling grit, you spread on Glider quickly and easily with your fingers. No brush. No lather. Not sticky or greasy.

A superabundance of moisture is contained in this rich, smooth cream. It softens each whisker right down to the skin, yet forms a protective layer over your face to keep blade from scraping. Swiftly and gently your razor glides over your skin without tearing or irritating.

FREE OFFER: Just send your name and address on a penny post card, for a generous FREE tube of Glider "No-Brush" Cream. The J. B. Williams Co., Dept. CT-13, Glastonbury, Conn., makers of Glider and Aqua Velva, who have been making fine shaving preparations for more than 93 years

REDSKINS BEAT EAGLES; RETAIN LEAD IN DIVISION

Smith Scores First in 20 to 14 Victory.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—(AP)—The Washington Redskins defeated the Philadelphia Eagles, 20 to 14, today and retained first place in the eastern division of the National Professional Football league.

Taking possession of the ball on Philadelphia's 39 yard line early in the first period, Bill Hartman shot a long pass to Riley Smith for the first score. Smith then converted. Philadelphia's bad kickoff at the beginning of the third period gave the Redskins the ball on their 42 yard mark. Hartman and Andy Farkas drove to the Eagles' 5, from where Farkas took it over for a touchdown. Smith's kick was good and gave the Redskins a 14 to 0 lead.

Eagles Fight Back.

The Eagles came right back with a score. Emmett Mortell threw a pass to Herschel Ramsey on the Redskins' 40. The fleet Eagle ran to a touchdown and Reese kicked the extra point. In the final period Sammy Baugh intercepted a Philadelphia pass on the Eagles' 18. On the next play the pass from center was bad, but Farkas ran back, picked up the ball and raced around the Eagles' right end to the 2 yard line. Two plays later he plunged over for another touchdown. Smith's kick was wide.

The second Philadelphia touchdown came on Mortell's pass from his 45 yard line over the goal to Joe Carter. Reese again kicked the extra point. The lineups:

GIANTS, 28; DODGERS, 14

New York, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Ed Danowski and Tuffy Leemans pitched the New York Giants to a 28 to 14 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in a National Football league game today before 36,228 in the Polo Grounds.

In methodical fashion, Danowski, the league's leading passer, tossed to Jim Howell for thirty-one yards and the Giants' first score in the first period and set up the second score with a ten yard toss to Ward Cuff early in the second period.

Leemans took over then, hurled one for ten yards to Cuff to put the third touchdown within easy reach, and another for five yards to Ray Hanken for the final marker.

The last three Giant touchdowns all came in the second quarter. After that, they were content to just play the game out, except for occasional flashes of fine ball-carrying by Leemans.

Dodgers Recover Fumble.

Passed dizzy through the first half, the Dodgers didn't recover until the fading minutes of the game, when Ace Parker, the star from Duke, sparked them to two touchdowns within four minutes. The first came on a fifty-nine yard drive, with Beattie Feathers going over from the 8.

The Giants registered twenty-one first downs to seven for their neighbors from across the river. The lineups:

VILLANOVA BEATS DETROIT, 13-6, ON TWO LONG RUNS

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Long runs by Nick Basca and Matt Kuber in the second and third quarters today gave Villanova a 13 to 6 victory over Detroit before 25,000 in Shibe park.

Villanova's first score came on the first play of the second period. Basca cut through right tackle from his 43 yard line and sped untouched into the end zone. John Wysocki place kicked the extra point.

Ghesquiere, Detroit left half, faded for a pass early in the third period after Detroit had marched into Villanova territory. But he pitched straight into the arms of the Villanova guard, Matt Kuber, who ran 65 yards for the second Villanova touchdown. Wysocki's placement was wide. Villanova hurled back several Detroit challenges throughout the game, but the one it didn't stop resulted in a fourth period touchdown for Detroit, Jim McMillan taking a pass in the end zone.

Weber Defeats De Paul; Joliet, De La Salle Tie

Weber routed De Paul, 18 to 0, yesterday to tie the idle Fenwick football team for first place in the north section of the Catholic High School league. De La Salle clung to the lead in the south division by playing a scoreless tie with Catholic of Joliet.

Mount Carmel scored its third south section triumph, defeating St. Patrick, 19 to 0. In other league games, St. Ignatius and Loyola tied, 7 to 7; St. George whipped St. Philip, 18 to 6, and Leo beat St. Mel, 21 to 12.

Weber held a 6 to 0 lead over De Paul at the half as a result of a twenty yard touchdown run by Ed Furmanek. In the final period Johnny Riemma scored twice on runs of three and four yards.

The main scoring threat in the De La Salle-Joliet game came in the second quarter as Joliet drove fifty-nine yards to the De La Salle 1 yard line, where it lost the ball on downs.

Jack McCallum scored two touchdowns to lead the Mount Carmel attack against St. Patrick. In the first quarter he went over from the 20 yard line and late in the third period plunged through center from the 5 yard line.

CHICAGO RUGBY TEAM DEFEATS WINNIPEG, 10 TO 5

The Chicago Rugby club, playing its third season without defeat, scored two touchdowns in the first half yesterday to beat Winnipeg, 10 to 5, on the New Trier High school field in Winnetka.

Art Crawford scored for Chicago first and Heinie Gardner kicked the extra points. Winnipeg fought back and tied the score when Nick Fester crossed the goal and Tom Kingdon kicked the points. The winning touchdown was made on a thirty yard dash by John Creigh after a brilliant passing play in which the whole back field participated. Pete Fortune added the points.

John Bartholomew, star full back for Winnipeg, suffered a brain concussion late in the game. Clint Frank, the former Yale football star, who had planned to play with Chicago, was ordered to rest by his physician because of an injured knee.

SPARTA WINS; SUSPEND, FINE STAR PLAYERS

BY OFFSIDE.

The national champion Sparta soccer team, playing without its star center forward, Jimmy MacDermott, defeated the Milwaukee Hungarians, 9 to 1, yesterday in an intercity match in Sparta stadium.

MacDermott, along with Art Waldron of the Manhattans, has been suspended for two weeks by the Illinois Soccer association for participation in a fight which nearly caused a riot in the Manhattan-Sparta game three weeks ago. Both players also were fined.

For fifteen minutes the Hungarians offered formidable opposition for the Spartas yesterday, but faded thereafter and the champions, led by Fraser and Trimmell, each of whom scored three times, and Wolf, who counted once, went on to an easy triumph. Proger drove in the losers' only goal just before the end of the first half.

Two upsets took place in the International league. In the major division the Vikings whipped the German-Americans, 2 to 0, while in the first division Wisla took first place with a 1 to 0 victory over the American Nickeloids. Sparta, Hungarian lineup:

HOLY LAND ARABS CARRY TERRORISM TO NEW DISTRICTS

Extend Revolt as Month of Fast Begins.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Arab insurgents showed no signs tonight of stemming their campaign of violence, terror, and arson throughout Palestine despite their defeat in the old city of Jerusalem by British forces.

While Christian communities in the Holy Land offered prayers for the deliverance of Jerusalem, which had been held for four days by Arabs in rebellion against British rule, Palestine's Moslems prepared to celebrate the great Mohammedan fast of Ramadan. [The Moslems' ninth month.]

Many Slain by British.

It begins tomorrow and lasts for thirty days, ending in the Bairam feast, most important of all Mohammedan holidays. Observance of this ritual, however, was not expected to halt the Arabs' activity which continues on a wide scale day and night in most parts of the country.

In a series of actions against bands over the week-end, British forces killed thirty-nine Arabs and wounded scores of others. British losses were only one killed and three wounded.

Arab raiders forced their way into the Ottoman bank in Jaffa, but obtained no loot. Failing to crack the safes, they set fire to the furniture and fittings.

Railroads Paralyzed.

Arab depredations which have paralyzed railroads, destroyed telegraph lines, caused fires in synagogues and railroad stations, the planting of land mines and bombs, and the deaths of Jews and their own kinsmen continued despite greatly reinforced British military strength.

With the placing of all districts of the Holy Land under the jurisdiction of military commanders, tantamount to placing the country under martial law, the British high command hopes soon to be able to ferret out revolutionaries in the interior of the country as it did recently in the old city of Jerusalem.

Scene of Plunge

Two conflicting versions were told last night about the four story leap of Miss Maxine Holt, 24 years old, 4311 Madison street, from the apartment of Arthur Reynolds, 35, in the Crestwood hotel, 525 North Austin boulevard. She is in a serious condition in the West Suburban hospital.

Miss Holt, an office clerk in a department store, went out with Reynolds Saturday night. They have known each other five months. She accompanied him to his apartment early yesterday, and leaped from his room shortly afterward.

Reynolds, Chicago agent for a New York mercantile house, told police he heard her calling from the bathroom, and ran in to find her hanging from the window sill. She fell before he could help her, he said. He said she had told him some time ago she was despondent over a love affair.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Mary Holt, said she visited her daughter in the hospital shortly after the fall and asserted her daughter told her: "Mother, I fought him off. I hate him. Don't let him into this room." Again last night, the mother said, the girl told her: "I jumped four stories to save my honor." Mrs. Holt denied Reynold's story of a love affair.

Admits Beating to Death Wife Who Supported Him

New York, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Morris Gold, 46 years old, was charged with murder and held without bail today after confessing, the police said, to the slaying of his wife, Julia, also 46 years old, because she threatened to quit supporting him. She was beaten with a hammer in their Brooklyn apartment Thursday night and died early today. Police said Gold had been supported by his wife, who was a partner in a 5th avenue merchandising business.

FAKE ARSON CASE VICTIMS TO ASK BAR FOR JUSTICE

Lawyers' Board to Look Into Delays.

Members of the board of managers of the Chicago Bar association were notified yesterday to attend a special meeting this afternoon to hear first hand a complaint concerning the now notorious fake arson case. The complainant is Attorney Joseph T. Harrington, who represents Frank Kolesiak and Emil Guerrieri.

Attorney Harrington said yesterday that he wants the bar association to help him see that justice is done. He is seeking warants for State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas and a group of amateur sleuths accused of forcing confessions from Kolesiak and Guerrieri in the fire last April in the Center hotel in West Madison street. Eight men died in the blaze.

Bar Chief Calls Meeting.

Henry P. Chandler, president of the bar association, called the meeting of the managers at Harrington's request. He said the attorney would be allowed to address the board.

Harrington has run into repeated difficulties in his efforts to get warants for Coultas and the amateur investigators whom he accuses. Judge John J. Rooney of the Felony court has listened to many of Harrington's applications for warants and continued hearings from time to time. Last Friday he continued the matter to Nov. 15.

Seeks Special Prosecutor.

Harrington revealed that today he intends to file a petition with Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court asking the appointment of a special state's attorney to prosecute the men who tortured Kolesiak and Guerrieri into making the false confessions. He charges they were kidnaped and falsely imprisoned before they were forced to confess. The grand jury later absolved both men.

Harrington said he wants a special state's attorney appointed because neither State's Attorney Courtney nor Attorney General Otto Kerner has taken charge of the prosecution.

Gov. Horner is personally investigating Coultas' conduct in the case.

CURED MENTAL PATIENTS SEEK CHANGE IN LAW

Persons who have been cured of insanity will hold a meeting Thursday night to start their drive to abolish the state law requiring a court order to commit a patient to a mental hospital. Behind the campaign are more than 100 former patients who were cured by shock treatment. They belong to an association organized by the University of Illinois Psychiatric institute.

Representatives of 100 civic organizations have been invited to attend the meeting in the Illinois Research and Educational hospital.

Dr. Abraham A. Low, assistant director of the psychiatric institute, said yesterday that the sheriff and judge system of sending a patient to a mental institution is brutal both for the patient and his family. "They are afraid of stigma," he said. "The family often will bleed themselves financially to give the patient treatment in a private sanitarium to avoid a court record. A competent physician's recommendation should be enough for hospitalization."

Clark Mitchell of the United States army, was critically injured tonight when their automobile overturned in dodging a horse-drawn cart filled with merry makers. Mrs. Mitchell was the former Jane Mora, daughter of Señora Juana Mora y Ruiz, widow of a Nicaraguan administrator. Capt. Mitchell's mother, Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, lives in Brighton, Mich.

100 MISSING AS STORM SWEEPS BLACK SEA PORTS

BUCHAREST, Oct. 23. — (AP) — At least 100 men were missing today after a storm that caused havoc in the Black Sea port of Constanta.

The fate of 12 men aboard the ship Har Carmel was unknown. The vessel, which was to have been scrapped, was torn from her moorings. The gale swept the city's streets, leaving 50,000 inhabitants without electric power for most of the night. Two men were fatally injured.

At Tashaul, about 10 miles from Constanta, the storm sank one vessel in the harbor with five men aboard. Seventy others were said to be in grave danger after a moored vessel they were aboard was blown into the open sea. Two lifeboats which raced to their rescue with 20 men also were missing.

MAYOR TO NAME CITY'S CHRISTMAS BENEFIT LEADERS

Mayor Kelly this week will name a committee of business men to do the buying for Chicago's own Christmas benefit of 1938. Shoes, warm clothing, and toys for more than 75,000 needy school children must be purchased in the next few weeks. The gifts, wrapped in gay Yule packages, will be distributed shortly before Christmas.

This is Chicago's sixth annual observance of the benefit, which was established by Mayor Kelly. Dates for the two events which make possible the outfitting of the children were set yesterday. The city championship football game will be played in Soldiers' field Nov. 26. A Night of Stars performance in Chicago Stadium will be held Dec. 21.

Tickets for both events are on sale at benefit headquarters, 33 North La Salle street. General admission to the football game is $1. Boxes for A Night of Stars range from $100 to $150. Single seats are from $2 to $10. All checks should be made payable to Col. A. A. Sprague, treasurer.

SOLVE RED ANGLE IN CRASH DEATH; PAPERS TRACED

Authorities yesterday concluded their investigation into what at first appeared to be a communistic element in a tragic motor truck accident which early Saturday caused the death of one man and serious burns and injuries to another at Torrence avenue and 171st street, Lansing.

The truck, bound for Washington, D. C., overturned in a ditch, and burst into flames. Alexander Moore, 30 years old of Cincinnati, was burned to death. Joseph L. Ballard, 29, of Covington, Ky., was injured and is in St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond.

Police salvaged a mass of typewritten and printed literature, some of which bore titles such as "The Bolshevik Revolution" and "Fundamentals of Communism." It was learned that the literature had been picked up at the University of Chicago. It belonged to Prof. Harold Lasswell, an anti-Red and student of radical propaganda, who had collected the material for research and had ordered it forwarded to him in Washington where he is now located.

HUMBOLDT PARK ARMORY SITE UP FOR BOARD'S O. K.

The park district, at the regular board meeting tomorrow, is expected to approve a site in Humboldt park for the new $1,207,909 National Guard armory. Robert J. The new armory will be built with the aid of a $571,909 grant from the Public Works administration. It will house the 33d division special troops, the 108th medical regiment, and the 108th quartermaster regiment.

Machine Corn Pickers Raise Job Question

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Mechanical corn pickers are beginning to have an appreciable effect on farm labor usually employed temporarily at this season.

Farm implement manufacturers reported yesterday they expected sales of pickers to exceed those of last year, when about 22,000 went into service. The almost uncanny machines snap ears of standing corn, husk them, and deposit them in wagons.

Upward of 65,000 of the pickers are cutting swaths through corn fields in the middle west. Agricultural authorities say it is safe to estimate each machine displaces three hand pickers. Thus about 195,000 men are replaced by the machines. Many farmers, after finishing work in their own fields, do custom work with their machines; charging from $1.50 to $2 per acre.

Huskers Get 4 Cents a Bushel.

But tens of thousands of huskers are being paid around 4 cents a bushel to harvest the golden ears throughout the corn belt. What the future holds for these men is a question.

Ray Murray, former Iowa state secretary of agriculture and now administrative assistant in the Iowa WPA office, has made a study of farm machinery equipment and its relation to labor. He said "within five years harvesting corn by hand probably will be as outmoded in Iowa as cradling grain."

Agricultural economists at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, after a study, reported the average cost for husking corn with a two row mechanical picker at 2.3 cents a bushel, as compared with 4.5 cents by hand labor.

Foresee Increased Use.

For this reason alone, agricultural authorities agree, it is safe to assume mechanical pickers will grow in popularity.

R. H. Baker, Ohio State university rural economics research assistant, estimated that 540,000 acres of Ohio corn would be harvested this year with mechanical pickers. He estimated the cutting, shocking, husking, and cribbing of corn at 22 hours of man labor per acre, compared with an average of 4 hours of man labor per acre with a mechanical picker.

In recent years farmers have reported difficulty in obtaining temporary help for the corn harvest, but reports from throughout the corn belt indicate an ample, and in some instances, an over abundant supply of help this year.

U. S. OFFERS NEW RFC NOTES; RATE TO BE ⅞ PER CENT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau offered for public subscription today new Reconstruction Finance corporation notes bearing ⅞ per cent interest and maturing Nov. 1, 1941.

The new notes, designated series "P," are being issued in an effort to refund on Nov. 1 the RFC's notes, series "K," which mature Dec. 15. There are $298,972,000 of the "K" notes maturing then.

The refunding on the earlier date was decided on to leave Dec. 15 free for any general financing the treasury may decide to do.

Morgenthau announced that the offering of series "P" notes would be limited to the amount of series "K" notes tendered for purchase Nov. 1. He said "K" notes not now tendered would be paid in cash when they matured.

White Rock Mineral Springs.

Investors' Guide: What is the earnings record of the White Rock Mineral Springs company? Please send me a report on the firm.—W. R. H.

Answer: With sales and earnings on the downgrade since 1930, the White Rock Mineral Springs company passed its quarterly dividend on the common stock in July this year. Common dividends had been paid every year since 1923.

The repeal of prohibition brought onto the market a large number of carbonated waters competing on a price basis with White Rock mineral water, which makes up more than 90 per cent of the company's sales volume. An effort has been made by the company to hold the market on a "quality product" appeal, because freight charges on White Rock, a naturally carbonated water bottled at the spring in Waukesha, Wis., prevent the company from meeting low price competition.

With liquor sales falling, the company's business slumped in the first half of this year. Net income was $155,650, or 45 cents a common share, compared with $226,707, or 72 cents a share, in the first six months of 1937. In the full year 1937, net income was $421,567 against $448,655 in 1936, $567,000 in 1934, and $1,315,000 in 1930. Sales last year of $1,435,000 represented continuation of the steady fall from the peak of $3,504,000 in 1929.

There is no funded debt. Stock outstanding consists of 12,308 shares of 7 per cent first cumulative preferred, 495 shares of 5 per cent noncumulative preferred, and 247,500 shares of no par common.

Dividend payments on the common amounted to $1.40 in 1937, $1.75 in 1936, $1.55 in 1935 and $2 a year or more in each year from 1928 through 1934. A quarterly dividend of 25 cents was paid April 1, 1938.

The company's competitive position makes the outlook uncertain.

Queens Borough Debentures.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me a report on Queens Borough Gas and Electric debentures—5½ per cent, due in 1952.—J. F. R.

Answer: Queens Borough 5½ per cent debentures of 1952 are outstanding in the amount of $3,764,000. They are a direct obligation of the company, but are not secured by a mortgage, and are subject to $11,000,000 of bonds with prior liens.

Interest charges were covered 1.21 times in 1937, 1.4 in 1936 and 1.34 in 1935. In the first six months of this year, charges were covered only 1.01 times against 1.2 times in the first half of 1937.

ENDING OF PRICE DOUBT BOLSTERS STEEL MARKETS

Ending of the recent price unsettlement has given a better tone to steel markets, the magazine Steel said yesterday. Since withdrawal of the price concession on flat rolled steel, demand for other products has improved, Steel said.

Ingot production last week continued unchanged at 51.5 per cent of theoretical capacity, according to Steel's estimate.

Scrap market were quiet last week. Steel's scrap composite was unchanged at $14.04. Except for the sale of about 80,000 tons to be exported to Europe, not enough sales were reported to test quotations.

ARRANGE TO LIST CHILEAN BONDS ON STOCK MART

New York, Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Arrangements have been completed to list on the New York Stock exchange dollar bonds of the Republic of Chile and the government-guaranteed dollar bonds of the Mortgage Bank of Chile. The arrangement, which applies to bonds whose holders accept the Chilean plan of debt service, was announced today by the Amortization institute. The institute handles Chile's debt matters.

The announcement contained the text of the recent decree issued by Chile after consultation with the American and European bondholders' protective councils. This decree clarified the debt plan and specified that acceptance of it did not affect the original obligation of the bonds in so far as the capital amount owed was concerned.

Holders of Chilean dollar bonds wishing to accept the plan must turn in their bonds to the Schroder Trust company, New York, for stamping.

Upon tender of the bonds for stamping, holders who have not collected past payments available will be entitled to receive 1936, 1937, and 1938 debt service, aggregating $18.60 for each $1,000 bonds.

AUTO MAKERS BEAR DOWN ON ACCELERATOR

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Recalling thousands of workers and adding millions of dollars to its weekly pay roll, the automobile industry this week swings into increased production schedules. Observers predicted today that 800,000 1939 models will be made between now and the end of the present year.

General Motors corporation, Chrysler corporation, and the Ford Motor company will step up output as previously announced.

Aside from the effect of these announcements by the motor car industry's big three, which produce about 80 per cent of all the motor vehicles assembled, an early reaction was foreseen among allied industries which supply parts for their products.

Fewer Locomotives, New Freight Cars on Order

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—(AP)—The Association of American Railroads reported today that class 1 railroads had 7,459 new freight cars on order on Oct. 1. This compared with 24,345 on order Oct. 1, 1937. There were fourteen new steam locomotives on order, compared with 212 Oct. 1, 1937, and 24 new electric and Diesel locomotives on order, compared with 28 a year ago.

Everyday Economics

Strip Mining—1.

Strip or open cut coal mining is a comparatively recent development. Through this method coal is mined in the open air. Sunburn replaces the underground cave-in as one of the principal dangers in this branch of the industry.

This form of mining recovers coal too shallow or too thin for mining by shaft or drift methods. Under the strip or open cut method the overburden of earth is removed with huge power shovels—some of them the largest moving pieces of machinery in the world—and the coal is then taken from the top of the seam. Width of the excavations varies with the size of the machine and the overburden, but it is not unusual for the pits to measure 200 feet or more in width from the brim of the original ground to the top of the spoil banks.

The final excavation results in a cut varying with the depth of the coal seam. This may be from 10 to 50 feet deep, from 75 to 200 feet wide, and from one-quarter to three miles long.

MEXICO HIKES RAYON DUTY; HINT ITALIAN DEAL; U. S. WILL LOSE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23.—Belief that Mexico has signed, or is about to sign a textile-petroleum barter with Italy was strengthened today. It was learned the Mexican government suddenly had raised the tarif on rayon yarn 680 per cent. Under the reported proposal, Italians would supply Mexico with all the rayon yarn it uses in exchange for Mexican petroleum.

In 1937, Mexico bought about $2,600,000 worth of rayon, between 40 and 45 per cent of it from the United States.

Launch U. S. Wage-Hour Rule Over 11 Millions of Workers

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24 [Monday].—(AP)—The federal government at 12:01 a. m. today began regulating wages and hours of workers under the most far-reaching industrial legislation since the Supreme court struck down the NRA.

In the capital the rush to issue regulations and explanations to the public was reminiscent of the early days of NRA. But at the helm, instead of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, now out of the Roosevelt administration and critical of it, is Elmer F. Andrews.

Andrews said the law was not designed to remake the nation. Its purpose, he said, is to guard "decent employers" against the ruinous competition of "competitors whose only weapon is low prices based upon low wages and long hours for those who produce their goods."

Aims at 40 Hour Week.

The new law deals only with wages and working conditions, whereas the outlawed national industrial recovery act provided also for regulation of trade practices.

The statute applies only to industries in interstate commerce. It is intended to bring about a 40 hour week and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour in such industries eventually. But, for the first year, an employé's regular work week may be 44 hours, and he may be paid as little as 25 cents an hour.

Then, for the next six years, the general minimum wage will be 30 cents an hour; after that, 40 cents. The maximum work week will be reduced progressively during the second and third years to 42 hours and then 40.

Employment longer than the statutory maximum hours will be permitted, but workers so employed must be paid in cash at the rate of time and a half the regular wage scale.

Applies to Children.

In general, the act also prohibits employment of children under 18 years of age in hazardous occupations. Children are forbidden to work in a manufacturing or mining industry if they are under 16, and youngsters between 14 and 16 may be hired only under certain conditions.

Anticipating that many "borderline" companies might not know whether the act applied to them, Andrews told an acquaintance:

He reported last week, nevertheless, that some employers had threatened to suspend operations until they could decide definitly what to do.

At first, because of a rather small staf, Andrews will rely on state departments of labor to check a company's employment records to prove law. Violators are subject to a fine of $10,000, six months' imprisonment, or both.

Exemptions Are Provided.

Congress exempted from the act agricultural workers, seamen, certain transportation employés, executives, professionals, and certain salesmen. It also exempted from hour provisions persons in seasonal industries and in the first processing of agricultural or horticultural commodities.

Andrews has estimated that 750,000 persons would receive increased wages under the law and that it would shorten the work week for 1,500,000.

40,000 TO LOSE JOBS

Austin, Tex., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Reports to state labor authorities today indicated 40,000 employés of pecan nut shelling plants in Texas will be thrown out of work tomorrow because of the new wage-hour law.

In San Antonio sixty plants, employing 10,000 men and women, mostly Mexican, will close because of the law, according to Alex Pomerantz, president of the South Texas Pecan Shelling company. The shellers have been receiving $1.50 to $6 dollars a week. Plant owners assert they cannot remain in business and pay the minimum wage of twenty-five cents an hour for a maximum working week of forty-four hours.

Most of the garment factories in Texas will also close, it was stated.

Cuts Jobs in Porto Rico.

[Copyright: 1938: By The New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 23.—Pay rolls estimated at approximately $1,000,000 a month by the chamber of commerce will end tomorrow when the new wage hour law takes effect.

Both labor and employer were united in the belief that the law as applied to Porto Rico ends employment for approximately 120,000 people while terminating the prospects of further industrialization.

Recent conferences in Washington between Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and island representatives led to conclusion there was no means of modifying the effects of the law in the island short of a congressional amendment.

Labor Commissioner Rivera Martinez in a published statement today said the "medicine is too strong for the patient."

WHEAT PRICES DIP UNDER COST OF PRODUCTION

Farmers are getting less than the cost of production for their wheat at current market prices, it is indicated by figures compiled by the department of agriculture.

The average price paid for wheat on the farm last week throughout the country amounted to about 55 cents a bushel. Figures recently issued by the department indicated the average cost of producing a bushel of wheat is 72 cents a bushel, exclusive of any land rental charge.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

First Killing Frost.

Oct. 23, 1938.

THE first killing frost of the season appeared at the experimental grounds of THE TRIBUNE'S Du Page county farm Friday morning, nearly a month later than last year. Last fall the first killing frost appeared on Sept. 26.

Vegetable crops were covered with white crystals Thursday night. When workers arrived at the test plots at the farm around 6:45 a. m. Friday thermometers were registering around 30 degrees above zero.

With a late frost, practically all crops in the test areas had time to mature. Most of the crops remained green unusually late this year. Much of the foliage was wilted by the frost.

Beans Well Matured.

Although the ten vegetable varieties of soy beans were planted late, practically all the beans were safe when the frost hit the fields. On May 24 the following seven varieties of the edible soy beans were planted and all of them were well matured when temperatures went below the freezing point: Giant Green, Fuji, Jogun, Tortise egg, No. 86129, No. 80488-1-1, and No. 80490-1.

Plantings of the varieties below were made about the middle of June: Bansei, Jogun, Shiro, Fuji, and Funk's Delicious. All but a few of the Funk's Delicious produced ripe beans. The latter variety was planted last, on June 17, and practically all the beans are dry enough to be picked for seed.

Growing weather has been so favorable this fall that some of the late planted crops of vegetables were sending out blooms up until last week. Yellow blossoms were open on some of the tomato vines when nipped by frosts.

Other crops that were green when struck by freezing temperatures included squash, pumpkin, Jerusalem artichokes, white turnips, celery, parsley, peppers, lima beans, Chinese cabbage [Pe Tsai], beets, Swiss chard, ceriac, and salsify. No serious damage was done to any of these crops because most of them were ready to harvest.

Clover Still Green.

The five different kinds of clovers growing in the test plots still are green and were not seriously harmed by the frost. A few blooms are now showing. Plants of Seradella, a German clover that lived through last winter, made a good showing this summer. Other clovers in the plots are: Mammouth, alsike, English wild white and Dutch white.

Tender flowers on the cotton plants were wilted by the frost. Bolls developed almost to the point of opening on many of the plants.

The last of the hybrid roasting ears were picked Tuesday. The ears of the hybrid are longer than those of Golden Bantam, a popular variety in this region.

Although Japan has conquered approximately 3,000 square miles of Chinese territory (outlined in heavy white border) in 16 months of fighting, a study of this map will show that they now hold a comparatively small part of the whole. Reports that China would sue for peace emphasize the importance of the unconquered territory. The black lines mark railways, the white lines highways. On the war front yesterday Canton was in flames set by retreating Chinese.
